Both Parties Rip Mitchell's Attack on Ike

Democratic Chairman Scored After Political Outburst in Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell drew a blast from Republican senators and criticism from some members of his own party today for linking President Eisenhower's friendship for golfer Bobby Jones with a proposed power contract.

The Senate had scarcely convened when GOP Leader Knowland of California teed off on Mitchell's intimation, in a speech last night, that Eisenhower was influenced by Jones to order a private power contract in the area served by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

Should Present Facts

Knowland told the Senate that if Mitchell has any information which indicates the contract is "illegal" or the result of "undue influence," he has a duty to present his facts to the justice department or the Senate-House Atomic Committee.

Sen. Cooper (R-Ky) noted that he had argued against the contract "with all the strength at my command" in Senate debate on the atomic bill. He said he still regretted that Eisenhower had ordered it made.

But Cooper said he was certain the President "acted in what he thought were the best interests of the country" and concluded:

"I do not believe there is any truth at all in the statement made by the chairman of the Democratic Party."

Long Established Policy

Sen. Reynolds (R-Neb) said the contract followed a policy which was not new at all but had been long established by the TVA itself.

Off the Senate floor, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told a reporter he feels Mitchell "carried guilt by association too far" in hitting at Eisenhower's contract order.

But Kefauver's colleague, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said if a Democratic Senate is elected this fall, he will press for a probe of the contract matter.

Mitchell, in the debate before a section of the American Bar Assn's annual meeting, said the Senate subcommittee on monopoly asked

1954 Goal of $163,913 Set In Appeals Campaign Here

New Budget Cut $3,548 Below 1953

4 Agencies Will Share In Solicitation Slated To Begin Here Oct. 11

A goal of $163,913 for the 1954-55 fund - raising campaign of the United Appeals of Marion County has been approved, J. B. Bray, president of the United Appeals board, announced today.

Sharing in this goal will be the four participating groups — the American Red Cross, the Cancer Society, the Community Foundation with its 10 agencies, and the Heart Association.

$3,548 Decrease

This year's goal represents a decrease of $3,548 from the $167,461 goal of last year's campaign, with the Red Cross making the largest reduction.

In reporting the 1954-55 goal, Mr. Bray also announced that the dates of Oct. 11 to 21 have been selected for the campaign.

The four organizations will share in the $163,913 in this manner: Red Cross, $32,090; Cancer Society, $9,700; Community Foundation, $112,269, and Heart Association, $3,854. Campaign expenses including an audit, are budgeted at $6,000.

Last year's campaign goal of $167,461, with campaign expenses apportioned among the four groups, was scheduled to be divided as follows: Red Cross, $38,580; Cancer Society, $10,500; Community Foundation, $114,385; and Heart Association, $3,996. However, because only $139,789 was raised, all four participating organizations took cuts in their expected budgets.

Plans Arrangements

Serving on the planning committee making arrangements for the fund drive are Harold Fralich, president of the Community Foundation; Mrs. W. A. Dennis, representing the Red Cross; Mrs. A. B. Augenstein, Cancer Society; Miss Clara Alice Wilson, Heart Association; J. H. Taft, vice president of the United Appeals board, and Bray.

E. J. Kinter, executive director of the Community Foundation, and the Foundation secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Skillman, are expecting to devote most of their time the rest of this month, September and October to the drive.

Mrs. Frances Scott, an employe of the United Appeals, has been working the last two months in getting cards and records ready for the campaign.

Details of the campaign organization are expected to be announced within the next week, Bray said.

POLIO CASES UP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six new polio cases reported in Columbus boosted the 1954 Franklin County total to 55 compared with 37 during a similar period in 1953, 37 in 1952 and 14 in 1951.

GLOBAL CLERGY IN HANDCLASP. Greeting each other at Evanston, Ill., in colorful native garb are Bishop Nicholi Zicha of Serbia, now living in exile at St. Sava Monestary, Libertyville, Ill., and Metropolitan Juhanon Martuma, Travancore, India. They met at McGaw Hall during session of the World Council of Churches.

Red Hungary's Bishop Speaks At Conference

Churchman From Iron Curtain Country Rips Subsidized Religion

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A bishop from Communist Hungary declared today churches must not bow to any governmental system but should stand more resolutely as free instruments of God.

"In the face of all opposing views either within or outside the church we proclaim this freedom of the church's way," Bishop John Peter told World Christian leaders.

He was the first delegate from behind the Iron Curtain on the program of the global assembly here of the World Council of Churches and the most controversial figure among them.

Quotes Scripture

In a prepared speech brimming with Scripture quotations he asserted that the church is not bound up with any social system but serves independently its Lord on the road of human history.

He said:

"I believe that not only in our country but everywhere in the world where there are Christians the churches ought to voice this independence of the church of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

Restricted to Council Meeting

There are 20 representatives from Communist lands among 1,500 churchmen from 48 nations participating in the assembly. Their presence has been assailed by some outside groups, and Bishop Peter's role particularly has been questioned.

Peter is a bishop of the Reformed Church of Hungary.

The State Department denied him permission to attend a world Presbyterian meeting in Princeton, N.J. two weeks ago but issued a

Senate Critics Concede Defeat On Farm Props

Compromise Bill on Flexible Price Support Slated for Final Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vocal opponents of the administration's farm program planned last-ditch protests, but even they anticipated speedy congressional approval — perhaps today — of a hard-fought compromise.

Two Republican critics of flexible and lower price supports incorporated in the measure said they would speak against the compromise agreement they refused to sign yesterday. Both Sen. Young (ND) and Rep. Andresen (Minn), however, conceded defeat.

Chairman Hope (R-Kan) of the House Agriculture Committee planned to call up the compromise first in the House. Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, a staunch supporter of the administration farm program, said he might ask Senate action first if there is a delay in the House.

The toughest battle in four days of Senate-House conferences on the omnibus farm bill was over dairy supports.

The final agreement sanctioned a level of 75 per cent of parity, a measure of farm prices calculated to reflect farm costs. Secretary of Agriculture Benson, citing millions of pounds of surplus on government hands, cut dairy props to that point from a previous 90 per cent last April.

Conferees rejected a House-proposed floor of 80 per cent from Sept. 1, to next April, but picked up House provisions intended to drain the surplus. These would supply additional milk to school children and channel more butter and cheese to the armed forces and Veterans Administration.

Hundreds Join Hunt for Killer In Toledo Area

Deputies Plan To Send Plane Over Area After Girl's Body Is Found

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies planned to send a plane over a heavily wooded area today in their search for a man who might be the assault slayer of Mary Jolene Freiss, 17.

More than 300 persons, armed with rifles, baseball bats and other weapons, combed the mile-square section last night after a woman resident reported an encounter with a suspicious looking man. The same man later was believed seen entering the woods.

Deputies today ordered the area cleared of all persons except official members of the searching party. This was to aid two deputies who will try to spot the man from the plane.

The crowd grew last night after a $1,000 reward was offered and news reports mentioned the new lead.

The prevalence of such weapons as rifles, shotguns, baseball bats and even a pitchfork led Sheriff William Hirsch to warn the hunters to use extreme caution, lest they harm one another.

One resident of the area, Robert Miller, fired a shotgun blast at a

Grand Jurors Quiz Sheppard Case Witnesses

Susan Hayes Appears Nervous, Refuses To Talk With Reporters

CLEVELAND (AP) — Attractive Susan Hayes, appearing nervous and apprehensive, went before the grand jury today to tell of her relations with Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, accused wife-slayer.

The 24-year-old hospital technician, who has admitted intimacies with Dr. Sheppard, refused to talk with reporters as she arrived at the criminal court building.

Hustled Into Elevator

County Detective Carl Rossbach almost lifted the slim auburn-haired woman off her feet as he hustled her into an elevator.

She was dressed smartly in a black cotton dress with a wide white collar and appeared solemn much of the time. This was far different from the bright smiling appearance she exhibited on her return from Los Angeles several weeks ago to assist police in the case.

The signed statement given then disputed inquest testimony by Dr. Sheppard that their relations were only "casual."

Voices Displeasure

Earlier, Cleveland Safety Director John N. McCormick evidenced displeasure over statements by subordinates and ordered police to continue with the investigation and "stick with it to the finish."

McCormick issued his order after police officials threatened to pull out of the case because of the release on $50,000 bond yesterday of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

The 30-year-old osteopath is charged with first degree murder in the July 4 slaying of his wife, Marilyn, 31. The grand jury is now hearing evidence in the case.

2 Galion Men Escape Death In Lake Storm

GALION — Two Galion men narrowly escaped drowning on storm-tossed Lake Erie Monday afternoon when their small fishing boat capsized.

Ivan Beck, 29, and John Kiddey, 31, both of near Galion, went out on the lake about 9 a.m. yesterday with a report that the lake would be calm. They were located about a mile and a half off Kelly's Island shortly after noon when they noticed that it was suddenly cloudy. They began pulling in their fishing lines, but the storm struck before they were ready. The boat capsized and the two men clung to the boat for about an hour before Kiddey spotted a U. S. Coast Guard cruiser. Kiddey stood up on the boat and waved an oar, but the cruiser failed to notice him until he fell off the boat into the waves.

In the storm, the men lost most of their fishing gear, some gasoline cans; Kiddey lost his billfold containing $40 and all his papers; and Beck lost his glasses and shoes.

Authorities said the wind reached a speed of 59 miles an hour during the gale.

Senate Passes Bill

House Studies Revision Of Atomic Energy Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to revamp the nation's eight-year-old atomic energy law was before the House today for a possible final vote after the Senate had passed swiftly a fresh compromise resolving the key atomic patents issue.

In a marked change of pace from its earlier handling of the atomic bill, the Senate last night accepted with hardly a flurry a new agreement worked out by a Senate-House conference committee in just a few hours. The roll call vote was 59-17.

5-Year Continuance

The Senate-passed compromise would continue government control of most atomic patents for the next five years. It also would open the way for private development of atomic patents after that time.

The bill—which cleaves to President Eisenhower's atomic program in most respects—would authorize limited exchange of atomic information with U.S. allies and would permit entry of private industry into the atomic field.

The measure had loomed as a possible major obstacle to hopes for adournment of Congress this week.

Up to last night, the snag on which the bill had stuck in the Senate had been the question of patents on civilian atomic developments.

13-Day Debate

The first time the bill was considered by the Senate last month, it took 13 days of debate—including several round-the-clock sessions—to finish the job. Then late last week the Senate argued the merits of a proposed compromise—and sent it back to conference as unacceptable.

That first compromise would have given normal 17-year exclusive patent rights to private interests developing atomic devices and processes on their own. It also provided that firms agreeing to share their patents on a fee basis for five years would get perference in licensing by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The House approved this arrangement, but the Senate insisted on 10 years compulsory patent sharing said it was needed to prevent monopoly practices.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told the Senate the compromise retains House and Senate provisions which previously had been viewed as conflicting, by providing compulsory patent sharing to start with and then reverting to the exclusive patent system later.

County Canvass Set Wednesday In Dimes Drive

The Marion Lions Club and American Legion Post No. 162 will lend a hand to the emergency March of Dimes when they canvass Marion County for badly needed funds Wednesday evening.

Personnel from the organizations will cover the county in a dozen trucks. Each vehicle will be manned by four or five men who will rouse the residents with noise-makers and call at each door for contributions. Time for the collection is set for 5 p.m. until dark.

The over-all theme of the campaign, "A dollar a family," will be stressed during this phase of the campaign, with the men carrying signs reading "A dollar a family for polio."

American Legion participation in the campaign will be organized by Don Williams, while the Lions Club members will be led by Jack Cochran.

Residents are urged to leave their donations with neighbors if they are unable to be at home when the trucks call.

County Voters To Register in Rural Precincts

Final plans for on-the-spot registration of eligible voters in 15 rural precincts on Aug. 19, 21, and 25 are being made by the Marion County Board of Elections.

These 15 precincts were added to the list of all-registration precincts following the May primary election and made registration a requirement for voting throughout the city and county.

The 15 precincts where elections board workers will be on hand this Thursday, Saturday and Wednesday are Bowling Green Township, Caledonia village, Claridon Township North, Claridon Township South, Grand Township, Grand Prairie Township, Green Camp Township, Green Camp village, Montgomery Township, Morral-Salt Rock Township, Scott Township, Tully Township, Waldo Township, and Waldo village.

Hours scheduled for this registration will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 to 9 p.m. Every eligible voter in these townships and villages who are not now registered must register to vote in the November general election, officials emphasize.

Elections board workers will be located in the regular voting places in these 15 precincts with the exception of Caledonia village and Claridon Township North, which will be located in the Caledonia Public Library; Green Camp Township and Green Camp Village, in the town hall; and Waldo Township and Waldo village, in the town hall.

Twelve instructors, in addition to two local registrars have been assigned to handle the registration on the three days.

Has House Okay

Bill To Outlaw Red Party Seen Passing in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-passed bill to outlaw the Communist party and strip all legal protection from Communist-dominated unions was ticketed today for Senate passage with possibly half a dozen changes, most of them described as minor.

The measure, speedily passed by the House 305-2 yesterday after GOP leaders had conferred with President Eisenhower, came up for debate in the Senate late last night with every prospect of quick approval.

But a stumbling block came into view when Sen. Butler (R-Md), author of the part of the legislation forbidding Red-dominated unions the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board, offered six amendments to that section he described as "technical."

Senators Humphrey (D-Minn), Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Lehman (D-Lib-NY) questioned that description. They said half the amendments made important changes and demanded that they be produced for study.

The President's antisubversive program went smoothly forward yesterday on another front when the Senate passed after brief debate a three-cornered measure, in slightly different form than a similar House bill, and sent it back to the House for anticipated quick approval.

This bill, third in the arsenal of new antisubversion weapons asked by Eisenhower and passed in varying forms by both houses, is designed (1) to tighten and modernize present laws against sabotage, (2) provide a death penalty for peacetime espionage and (3) require registration of all persons trained in espionage or sabotage by a foreign government or foreign political party.

150 Donors Needed For Bloodmobile

An opportunity to help meet Marion County's need for blood donors will be given Thursday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits the Osgood Co., 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The need is for 150 pints of blood, and besides company employes, anyone in that neighborhood as well as from the rest of the community will be welcomed, it was announced.

Because this county has not met its quota in the blood program fully, help to four cases at City Hospital was delayed last week, Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the Marion County Chapter of Red Cross, said.

The one-day visit of the Bloodmobile here this month is the 13th for the year, and to date the county is 20 per cent short of meeting the required quota for the year, it was pointed out. Those wishing to make appointments for Thursday are to call the Red Cross office at 2-1653.

Proposals Too Drastic

U.S. Fears New French Demands May Kill EDC

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials from Secretary of State Dulles down were reported fearful today that new French defense proposals might kill the long-cherished six-nation European army plan.

Authoritative American informants seemed convinced changes in the European Defense Community plan, proposed by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, were far too drastic to be accepted by the other countries involved.

See No Reconciliation

And they foresaw little or no chance that the other proposed European army partners—West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — could find any formula for reconciling their own views with the new French attitude.

Foreign ministers of the six nations are to meet in Brussels Thursday to discuss the problem.

All participants except France and Italy have ratified the treaty.

Consults Bedell Smith

The Mendes-France amendments among other things, would allow any member to withdraw from EDC if American and British troops were pulled out of Europe, would make the EDC treaty's length the same as that of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, forbid the stationing of German troops on French soil and withhold final French ratification pending a new try at settlement with Russia over Germany.

In a move to explain the new French plan, Ambassador Henri Bonnet met secretly at the State Department yesterday with Acting Secretary Walter Bedell Smith.

Smith was reported to share the view that the French plan imperils the entire future of the defense

UNC Demands Accounting on New POW List

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U.N. Command today demanded an accounting of 2,640 missing Allied soldiers—including 526 Americans—named on a "newly revised list" of men the Reds are accused of holding prisoner.

Rear Adm. T. B. Brittain told the Communists the U.N. wants to know when the men will be freed if they are alive and when their bodies will be returned if they are dead.

The Communists promptly branded the U.N. list "a fabricated roster" and declared that "all persons have been repatriated in accordance with the armistice agreement."

The new list, given the Communists at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission, carries the names of 526 Americans, 50 from other U.N. nations and 2,264 South Koreans.

It includes men whom the Reds have admitted holding in China.

The Reds insist that all Allied war prisoners who wanted to return home were repatriated last year.

'Glass Sickness' Makes Appearance in Belgium

BRUSSELS (NANA) — "Glass sickness," the malady which started in the United States, hopped the Atlantic and then the English Channel, has reached Belgium to accomplish destruction beyond two wars.

Gathered for a reunion, a family at the village of Habay-la-Vieille, near Belgium's southern frontier, was using a set of a dozen crystal glasses. The glass had been in the family, and safely protected, through three generations, two world wars and two occupations.

As the meal was ending, one of the dishes suddenly shattered. Within seconds, another splintered, then another, until seven lay in pieces.

The family was watching; no one touched the dishes; there was no traffic vibration. A few weeks ago, motorists in scattered parts of France reported windshields shattering without warning. Previously Britain had also been afflicted by the "sickness" shortly after reports of glass pitted and broken without explanation came from several parts of the U. S.

School of Future To Emphasize Character, Moral Development

NEW YORK (UP) — The college of the future will lay greater stress on development of morals and character than on intellect, accrding to Lawrence H. Chamberlain, dean of Columbia College, the men's undergraduate department of Columbia University.

"Most of the unhealthy conditions which afflict society today," asserted Dean Chamberlain, "cannot be attributed so much to lack of technical competence as to moral deficiency. And no matter how excellent the technical training at the professional level may be, all of this specialized skill will accomplish little unless these schools are supplied with the right kind of human product. One cannot ignore the futility and the danger of turning out highly skilled moral vacuums."

His remarks were made in the course of an interview in connection with the university's 200th anniversary which is being observed throughout 1954 with programs keyed to the theme "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof."

As to the form a college education of the future will take, Dean Chamberlain indicated five general areas in which the student will work. They are:

1. First-hand contact with the major ideas that have reflected and helped to shape the course of human events from antiquity to the present.

2. A broader acquaintance with the rest of the world.

3. An understanding of people, how they act and why they act that way.

4. A comprehending if not a comprehensive knowledge of the scientific world.

5. A mastery of at least a minimum facility in the art of communication.

"Intellectual training has always been and will continue to be the prime function of college," said Chamberlain. "But it sometimes seems as if college is too intellectual — in the sense that it overemphasizes the rational by ignoring or underestimating the practical, the political, the irrational — all of which may in particular instances be nearer the real.

"With all its excellence the college program is incomplete — hence one-sided. While we have talked about the whole man we have made systematic provision for training only part of him, taking it more or less for granted that the other part would care for itself.

Training the "whole man" for good citizenship, he noted, requires intellectual, social, spiritual, moral and physical development. He disagreed with those who contend that with the exception of the intellectual, the other elements of education for good citizenship are the function of the community, the church and the family. American colleges today, is getting young men whose social moral and spiritual qualities are under - developed," he continued. "If we concentrate exclusively upon their minds, later we may have to face the realization that our investment had been partly wasted because the individual in question is in default on social, moral or ethical grounds. In order to protect its own investment it is necessary for Columbia College to accept some responsibility for these areas of the young man's development.

"It seems to me that the college should provide intellectual training for good citizenship, but it should also lay the groundwork for effective citizen participation and build logical bridges between student preparation for life and life itself. I hope that in the years ahead Columbia College can pioneer as constructively in this area as it has in the academic field. If it does we will truly be educating the whole man."

Hong Kong Steamroller Placed on Retired List

HONGKONG (UP)—An old-fashioned, tall-chimneyed steamroller made its final appearance June 4, after having served faithfully for more than half a century in Hongking's road construction.

Thousands lined the road on which "Old Faithful" was making its final run to bid adieu to the veteran road machine as Hongkong's governor, Sir Alexander Grantham, honored it be delivering it personally to wreckers from the Public Works Department who were to scrap it.

The colony now has a fleet of 24 post-war model diesel engineer rollers.

If only the world's leaders would turn to decency, of course, there would be no war, unless we had one first to settle the question of what is decency.

Weddings

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Luella Pauline Denning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlin Denning of Taylorville, Ill., and Charles Wesley Bowman Jr. of Barberton formerly of Marion. He is the son of Mrs. George W. Davids of north of Marion and Charles C. Bowman of east of Marion.

The wedding took place Sunday, Aug. 8, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Second Pilgrim Holiness Church here with the pastor, Rev. Norval Rickner, officiating. Vocalist was Miss Betty Bowman of Cardington, cousin of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white moline and lace over taffeta topped by a taffeta jacket with fingertip length sleeves. She wore a half-hat trimmed with daisies set with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a lavender orchid and showered with white ribbon streamers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Scaffidi of Barberton, sister of the bridegroom, wore a lavender gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Other attendants were Mrs. John Wessels, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Ramer Lambes, cousin of the bride Mrs Wessels was in orchid and Mrs. Lambes in mint green, and both carried bouquets of white carnations. Flower girls were Virginia Lynn Scaffidi and Charlotte Ann Scaffidi, nieces of the bridegroom.

Best man for the bridegroom was Richard Rader of Akron, and ushers were Ramer Lambes of Akron, cousin of the bride, and John Bowman of Marion, cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Denning wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories, and Mrs. Davids was attired in a blue dress with pink accessories. Each had a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the C. C. Bowman home near Marion. Out of town guests were from Akron, Clinton, and Taylorville, Ill. The couple will reside in Barberton.

Modern Egyptian Pupil Studies Ancient Process

AUSTIN, Tex. — (U') — An Egyptian student at the University of Texas is taking a scientific look at "night radiation," a cooling process used by his ancestors as far back at 2500 B C.

Mahmoud Mahamed Mahmoud, 24, of Alexandria, Egypt, is working on a doctor of philosophy degree in mechanical engineering.

Night radiation causes water condensation on the top of an automobile left overnight in the open. It also may result in the freezing of unprotected flowers and fruits—even when the weather bureau thermometer says the temperature did not reach 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

The action is blamed for maintenance problems in certain types of flat-topped business structures. Mahmoud's research may benefit both agriculture and the building industry.

Jet Planes Can Remain Aloft as Long as Pilot

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (UP)—America's newest jet fighter-bombers can stay up as long as the pilot can stay awake, according to Mundy I. Peale, president of Republic Aviation Corp., where swept-wing F-84F Thunderstreaks are being mass-produced for delivery to the U. S. and Allied Air Forces.

Four external tanks with 1,360 gallons of fuel can be added to the 650 - miles - per - hour Thunderstreaks for special missions, and Republic's fighter-refueling system enables "gassingup" from tanker planes in the air.

A new 357-mile railroad links iron ore operations on the Quebec-Labrador border with the St. Lawrence River.

Applied Psychology Programs Pay Off for Trucking Company

WINSTON SALEM, N. C. (UP)—A major national trucking firm disputes the popular theory that getting behind the steering wheel causes personality changes, with a sort of Dr. Jekyll - Mr. Hyde magic that makes many a highway menace.

"You drive as you live" appears to be a much more accurate analysis, said Carlton Alexander, director of the department of safety for the McLean Trucking Co here.

The firm's applied psychology program of selecting drivers has saved 28 lives during the past six years, prevented 3,813 accidents and cut costs some $3,302,000, Alexander said.

It has produced a general description of a safe driver as a "sort of easy-going, easy-to-get-along-with, pleasant to-meet type of fellow who is always active and slightly restless."

"On the other hand, the dogmatic, hard - to - get - along - with, overbearing, bully-type of fellow is likely to have accident trouble," he added. "And, at the same time, the completely lazy-bones driver will likely have trouble."

McLean began the effort to pin down the characteristics of the safe driver some six years ago when accidents were occurring at the costly rate of one for every 28,000 miles of hauling. The effectiveness of its search through psychology is demonstrated by the current ratio of 162,782 miles per accident.

Less than 30 per cent of the firm's drivers were involved in 80 per cent of the accidents back in 1948, Alexander said.

"Our records likewise revealed that when a man was prone to become ni vlo envcaidc8 come involved in accidents, it appeared that such a man could not prevent becoming involved in future accidents, regardless of the incentive offered to him or the fear of disciplinary action," he added.

The company already was picking its drivers with the aid of psychological tests that "weeded out all applicants wherein some abnormality was detected," Alexander said.

Clearly both the safe and the accident-prone drivers fell within the normal range, so McLean contracted with the psychology department of North Carolina State College, headed by Dr. D. J. Moffie, to devise tests that would reveal in advance which was which.

The new measuring stick evolved from those studies brought spectacular improvement in the first year when the company cut the number of accidents by 267 although its trucks operated an additional 1,500,000 miles. Last year, with the total miles operated nearly double that of 1948, the number of accidents had been cut to less than one-third of the 1948 total.

If accidents had continued at the 1948 rate, the firm would have had 6,510 accidents through 1953 instead of 2,697.

"Under national safety council estimates, a reduction of 3,813 accidents resulted in a saving of 28 lives and prevented 980 injuries," Alexander said.

"A saving in gross revenue of $2,114,096" also resulted from the safety program over the six years, he said, and "the cost of safety and insurance was reduced an estimated $1,188,135."

'TV Tinkerers' Warned To Leave the Set Alone

NEW YORK — (NANA)—Fix-it-yourself screwdriver mechanics were warned today that they'd best stay away from their television sets, despite publications which portray TV repair jobs as rather easy.

Ray Decola, director of engineering for Admiral Corp., said that "tinkering is dangerous—for the set." A TV set, he declared, is much more complicated than the engine of an automobile.

A typical 21-inch receiver, Decola declared, has over 1,600 individual parts, including tiny strips of wire, nuts, bolts, washers, screws, tubes, condensors and resistors. During assembly, the engineer went on, more than 2,000 soldered connections are made.

"Our advice to would-be TV tinkerers is—don't," Decola said.

Papa Loses Out

By George Sokolsky

The 80th birthday of Herbert Hoover reminded me of a similar occasion when Bertrand Russell having at long last achieved maturity at four score years commented on the biological aspects of fatherhood Bertrand Russell, as you may recall, is a mathematician of note who also interests himself in philosophy and politics He said, on the occasion of his 80th birthday

"The father, the family and the elan are all being replaced by the state which is the residuary legatee of these antiquated authorities I will not pretend to welcome this change I am not in love with the state And a society in which the state rules unchecked is likely to be drab, uniform, and bellicose At any rate it will be bellicose until such time as there is a single dominant world state But whether for good or ill, the tendencies of which I have been speaking seem quite irresistible unless, as a result of war, modern industrial methods collapse and the world returns to a more primitive economy. . . "

THIS GLOOMY OUTLOOK on our society represents the view of many who believe that we have nearly lost the fight It is an unhappy point of view based upon nothing more than the diplomatic and military victories of the Soviet Universal State Yet even in Soviet Russia, the family system continues, children do love and respect their parents, and homes are not state institutions

Russell made this point, too

"I incline to think that the weakening of the biological aspects of society is likely to prove a permanent feature of the modern world. The strength of the family in the past depended very largely upon the insecurity of children whose parents were not in a position to protect them. In the modern world, the state increasingly takes over the duties that formerly belonged to the father The mother still has her place, but the father is becoming a shadowy figure"

IT IS SOMETHING for congratulations that mothers still have a place in the family and in our society, but papa has passed out of the picture except as a biological progenitor! This pessimistic outlook is undoubtedly an overemphasis on science and too little on religion too much on relating man to the Rhesus monkey and too little with God in whose image he was created

Science does have a way of making one pessimistic, as for example, the certainty that the world will come to an end because of the hydrogen bomb which is not unlike the hysteria preceding the year 1000 that upon the advent of that date the world would terminate its course Nothing untoward happened at that time and the probability is that the human race will somehow march through the forthcoming centuries wondering why we mid-twentieth century barbarians were so frightened

I wonder what Russell means when he says that the state is taking over the duties of the father, In most countries, the father is still expected to support his children out of his earnings, the state only caring for those who are parentless, which we do here out of private charity In most countries, the father and not the state sits at the head of the table and sees to it that children comport themselves according to the mores of each particular race

PAPA BUYS baby's shoes even in Soviet Russia and in Red China, if the state were to buy the shoes, so much politics would be involved that everybody would prefer to go barefoot except those who belong to the controlling party. Sooner or later, a Congressional committee would investigate the corruption of shoes and another committee would be appointed to discover why the first committee went into the question of shoes Papa does it all with greater simplicity and without filling out myriads of forms

It would seem that the state is being taken too seriously, as Herbert Spencer foresaw that it would be. That worthy institution is only as effective as any people let it be and while it is true that revolutions are very hard to make these days, unless they are stimulated and supported by the great powers, human beings find out sooner or later, how to resist tyranny particularly when it affects the family which is the most persistent of human institutions.

My guess would be that papa will somehow survive these troubled times

Lesson for U. S.

By Victor Riesel

MADRID

The files of our Central Intelligence Agency have been opened to at least one Washington commentator So I need no longer keep my promise not to discuss the disappearance of Otto John, the former J Edgar Hoover of the German Republic and of the entire western world on the German - Russian front, for that matter

RIESEL

The disappearance of Otto John is more than a kidnaping case and more than a one week sensation to be lost in the dust settling on the dossiers of similar disappearances of thousands of our friends Otto John's disappearance — if we take for granted the effectiveness of Soviet hypnotic drugs and brainwashing techniques — endangers every GI kid in Europe

Otto John not only knew where our underground spy apparatus was planted in Soviet territory, he also knew the secrets of all our bases and the distribution of atomic cannon and atom bomb carrying planes and the runways on which they perch right now naturally aimed at Moscow should the signal come for retaliatory raids So those bases are the ones the Russians will try to hit first

AS IMPORTANT as all this is it does not outweigh the fact that disappearance of Otto John should be an alert to the Western world Tragically, it hasn't been Because if the Russians dared to kidnap Otto John — they are preparing for new trans - European maneuvers of great importance Otherwise they would not have chanced snatching so powerful a figure out of the Western world

I believe Otto John was kidnaped

I believe he was drugged and brainwashed I believe that sooner or later he will be reported dead as a "despondent suicide" or from some heart ailment

I was the first and I think the only American newsman, to tell the U S of Otto John and the work of his "Office For Protection of the Constitution," the German Republics FBI and a central depot for British - U S - German counter intelligence That was about a year ago Since then I have watched his work closely

I was in Berlin last month when he and his aides were there I was briefed on his work in anticipation of meeting him.

UP UNTIL the very minute he disappeared into the Soviet sector, Otto John was brutalizing the Soviets and their agents He knew of explosions inside the Eastern zone He knew of food poisoning attempts

He knew of successful West German efforts to defect Russian troops and of our underground cells which have brought over thousands of Communist police officials He had made contact with scores of Soviet intelligence and secret police agents—who finally came over to our side

This was hurting the Russians badly Yet he never betrayed our side Nor was he despondent as was reported by so many correspondents who had not seen him in a long time or who had never seen him Otto John was with many friends that week in Berlin—which was virtually a week of demonstrations for world democracy

The fact that the Russians could snatch the J Edgar Hoover of the Allen Dulles of Germany means that the MVD plotted this one for a very long time They would have to, to fool Otto John

But he will not have been tortured in vain if his tragedy alerts America and makes us in the U S realize that this kind of cloak-and-dagger operation is the Soviets' secret weapon

I am concerned with the use of labor by this cloak-and-dagger section of the Soviet government.

THE SAME APPARAT which plotted the snatch of Otto John, not so long ago used members of the Oslo plumbers union to spy on Scandinavian ports, navy workshops, airfields, coast artillery installations and military depots

In England we are being spied on by members of the electrical workers union

In France Commie members of the CGT are in the heart of some of our vital installations and are actually handling our most strategic materiel

In Germany they're on railroads and in metal plants and control the workers at the Opel Auto factory, a General Motors subsidiary which may be called on to make tanks if Germany gets an army

In Italy their longshoremen, their ship workers and a score of other CGIL union members spy on our NATO naval operations and military equipment

In America the same Soviet secret police which ordered the snatching of Otto John and runs the labor espionage network, controls Communist union officials in some of our most vital metal, meat, electronics waterfront and nuclear experimentation fields, just to pick a few

The same men who would order the kidnaping of an Otto John, would just as lief order one of our key plants or docks blown to bits That's the disturbing lesson of the sudden dramatic disappearance of Otto John

Mambo King

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

"This music has blood in it"

That is the way Perez Prado king of the mambo, feels about the fast - paced rhythm he borrowed from native Cuban sugar workers and converted into America's newest dance craze

HAL BOYLE

The mambo which has an exciting Afro-Cuban pulse beat is a melodic wedding of hot jive and the rhumba It certainly is music that has Prado's life blood in it Since 1943 he has written 200 mambos including 'Mambo Jambo," a wildfire hit that has sold more than two million records

'In Cuba people said I was crazy to think people would ever like the mambo" Prado recalled "But it has succeeded because it is new and modernistic In America you had become weary of the old rhythms You wanted a new beat—and this music has blood in it"

TODAY THE foot-stamping, blood-stirring rhythm of the Cuban sugar cane workers has given the anemic American dance band industry a badly needed shot in the arm Arthur Murray says 75 per cent of his pupils now ask to be taught the mambo

The odd fact about the mambo is that its rapidly increasing blood beat tempo draws people out on a dance floor who ordinarily don't dance at all It is a dance that brings out the physical improvization latent even in the staidest of Wall Street brokers.

Some say that "mambo" like the names of most Latin-American dances cannot be translated Others say that in the argot of the Cuban sugar cane hackers it means 'shake it!" — and that if you do just that you'll do all right on the dance floor.

PRADO HAS HAD to adjust himself to the new fame he enjoys He is a small energetic man with the air and the seriousness of Napoleon He runs his band with the intensity and authority of an Arturo Toscanini Striding back and forth, he barks out whenever he wants to key in a new movement 'Dilo' —pronounced 'dee-lo' — which he explained through an interpreter is local Cuban for "say it"

But the other night at the Waldorf's starlight roof it sounded more like he was urging on his musicians with a sort of mystic hiccup — "bilk' . bilk' . . bilk'" He says he doesn't speak English, but that is the way his signature barks in Cuban registered in my ears, which don't speak Spanish

PRADO USES drums to build up the blood beat of his music, saxophones to carry the rhythm trumpets to blare the melody He employes some of the wall-vibrating effects of Spike Jones, whom he gratefully credits for helping spread his fame north of the Rio Grande

The first night of his engagement at the Waldorf he trumpeted so loud that the management, who still regarded him as a gamble and had yet to learn he could melt the ice cakes in their customers blood, said.

"Please, you're blowing off our roof Can't you put mutes in your trumpets?"

Prado shrugged and put in the mutes

'Where I stand the music is the same," he said He also assassinated his Bohemian sideburns in the middle, shaved off his goatee, but retained half his mustache His problem now is to compromise between being spectacular and prim

PRADO IS THE son of a Cuban newspaperman and a mother who was a classical pianist He started playing the piano at 8 himself Today he is in the $150 000-a-year bracket wears $200-a-pair alligator shoes, can afford to patronize the same tailor who makes Liberace so memorable.

"But money never worried me," he insisted "I live each day for itself, and each day I look for something new"

He sleeps only six hours often starts composing music in bed upon awakening

"Nobody really wants to know his own future," he said "I write something new in music every day I want to put something difference down When I do that, every day I feel I am alive"

Divorcees Picket, Claim Judges Lax On Alimony Cases

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Some 30 angry divorcees picketed Friend of the Court Arthur J. Slaggert and the circuit judges yesterday in an effort to collect back alimony, which in the case of some of the women amounted to well over $1,000

They charge that laxness in Slaggert's office has allowed husbands to fall behind in alimony payments and little effort is made to collect them

Slaggert countered the charges by pointing out that many of the men involved are not "of good character" The alternative, he said, is to put them in jail and place every family member on public support roles.

Train Crews To Risk 'Illegal Parking' Fines

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)—The Lincoln City Council has directed the chief of police to issue tickets for illegal parking to crew members of Illinois Terminal Railroad trains which pass through the center of the city.

Alderman Don Shay said trains of the electric line are left unattended on Main Street while crew members sip coffee in a nearby restaurant

English To Replace Latin in Certain Catholic Services

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Archbishop Albert G Meyer of Milwaukee told the National Catholic Liturgical Conference last night that the Holy See has granted permission for the English language to be used instead of Latin in certain Catholic ceremonies and blessings in this country.

Archbishop Meyer said he was authorized to announce English could henceforth be used in the sacraments of baptism, marriage and extreme unction and some 25 other ceremonies and blessings The permission does not extend to the mass he said

Fake Court Summons Draws 45 Days in Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Because he simulated a court document to collect money, Seymour Maxwell must serve 45 days in jail

The court, in sentencing the 25-year-old finance company executive yesterday, disregarded pleas of his lawyer that another lawyer had told Maxwell it was all right to prepare fake court summons to induce a woman to settle a washing machine purchase contract.

"Hot weather leads to violence and arguments" and the office grouch hopes it doesn't cool off before he gets around to telling off a few guys still left on his list

Severe Storm Hits Cleveland

1 Dead, 6 Injured; Power Out 6 Hours

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms were numerous over many parts of the country yesterday. Areas receiving rain ranged over the northeastern states, southward to Alabama and Georgia, and westward across the Great Lakes region and Ohio River Valley to the Central Plains and central and southern Rockies.

There also were showers in Montana, northern Idaho and Washington, and in Florida and southern Texas.

A violent thunderstorm accompanied by 55 mile an hour winds hit Cleveland yesterday, leaving one man dead and seven injured. Sections of the city were without electricity for periods up to six hours. Stephen Prokop, 71, was electrocuted when he tried to remove a fallen power line in front of his home.

Rains exceeded an inch in many areas. Some 24-hour totals included Sidney, Neb., 1.58 inches; Chicago 1.25 and Akron, Ohio, 1.64.

It was generally cooler over the Great Lakes westward to the Dakotas. High temperatures yesterday generally were down 9 to 19 degrees from those of Sunday.

Hot weather continued over the South and the mercury edged up somewhat in the Southeast. Atlanta, Ga., had 102 degrees, the highest temperature ever recorded there in August. Little Rock and Fort Smith, Ark., had 105.

The temperature hit 102 yesterday in Dallas, Tex., which tied the record of 38 days of 100 degrees or higher temperatures in one year, set in 1952.

Giant Typhoon Japan-Bound

Islands' New Army Put on Disaster Alert

TOKYO (AP) — A rampaging typhoon generating winds of 150 miles an hour and preceded by giant waves bore down on the main Japanese islands today and the nation's new army was alerted for disaster duty.

The U.S. destroyer Rowan, meanwhile, steamed into the teeth of the tropical storm to aid a tiny Japanese fishing boat which radioed for help 200 miles northwest of Okinawa.

The U.S. Navy said it had no details except the Rowan had entered the storm's "critical area."

The giant storm which raked Okinawa and the Amami Oshima Islands south of Japan with 150-mile-an-hour winds is scheduled to hit Kyushu, southernmost Japanese island, about dawn tomorrow.

E. McArthur said he proposed withdrawing his forces because he felt the investigation was virtually concluded and he was "shocked" by the granting of bail to Dr. Sheppard.

Dr. Sheppard resumed work in Bay View Hospital near his suburban home while the grand jury moved through a list of 16 witnesses. A report from the jury was expected late today or tomorrow.

County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan joined McArthur in protesting the granting of bail by Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas.

A preliminary hearing to present evidence that Sheppard should be held was scheduled for yesterday, but the hearing was bypassed when the prosecution, seeking to keep Sheppard's attorneys in the dark about it plans for presenting the case should it reach a trial, brought matters directly to the grand jury.

man he saw near his trailer home, but fortunately did not injure him. Deputy William Sloan said he 'saw another man scanning the area with binoculars from atop a barn, and holding a shotgun in his hand.

The body of the 17-year-old victim was found last Thursday after the girl had left the home of an aunt, Mrs. Mary Bond, to pick up mail about a quarter of a mile away. She rad been dragged from her bicycle, beaten, assaulted and stabbed to death.

Reports Man in Garden

The community erupted yesterday after Mrs. Victoria Urbanosicz, 29, told police she caught a man eating tomatoes in her garden and that he warned her: "If you call the cops, I'll kill you."

Later in the day, she said, she received a phone call from a man who snarled, "I'll get you now just like the other one—in a few minutes."

A deputy was put on guard at her home.

Lucas County commissioners have offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the slayer.

Hundreds of tips have poured into the sheriff's office and several known sex offenders have been rounded up for questioning. So far all have been cleared.

FINED $25, COSTS

Willie Williams, 34, of 880 Kenton Ave. was fined $25 and costs in Marion Municipal Court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

for funds to investigate the situation but that "the Republican leadership through Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) bottled up the request so they can't get a dime."

"Here is something that really needs investigating," he said.

He later emphasized to newsmen that his remarks on the need for an investigation did not directly refer to the President's alleged role in the incident.

Power Contract

He said the contract involved was for providing electrical power for the atomic energy plant at Paducah, Ky., and was 9 million dollars higher than that offered by a rival syndicate and was 140 million dollars more than the TVA would require to supply the power.

Mitchell declared that "it so happens that a director of one of the two companies in the favored syndicate is one of the President's closest friends—with a cottage next to President Eisenhower's at the Augusta golf course."

He did not mention the name of the President's "closest friends" but his office said later he referred to golfer Bobby Jones.

Calls Assertion Ridiculous

In Atlanta, Jones said Mitchell's remarks are "utterly ridiculous and without foundation."

He said, "I resent any implication that the President would be subected to such influence and I resent the implication that I would be foolish enough to try to bring such influence to bear."

He said he would be surprised if the President even knew he was a director of the Southern Co. "because he and I never had any conversations about that fact."

Mitchell mentioned the matter after Hall had challenged him to cite any "corruption' 'in the Eisenhower administration.

"Let's look at the Dixon-Yates scandal, which occupied so much attention during the atomic energy debate in the Senate a couple of weeks ago," Mitchell declared.

"Here was a deal to buy power from a plant to be built (at West Memphis, Ark.) by Dixon-Yates to meet the needs of the atomic energy plant at Paducah.

Claims Others Lower

"A competing syndicate offered to provide the power for 90 million dollars less than Dixon-Yates—and the TVA would provide the power for 140 million less.

"Yet, the President issued a personal order to give the contract to Dixon-Yates over the protest of both the Atomic Energy Commission and the TVA without competitive bidding."

A letter from the Budget Bureau to the Atomic Energy Commission was released in Washington June 17 saying in part that "the President has asked me to instruct the Atomic Energy Commission to proceed with the negotiations with the sponsors of the proposal" outlined by the utility group "with a view to signing a definitive contract on a basis generally within the terms of the proposal."

The Dixon-Yates proposal was described by General Manager K. D. Nichols of the AEC as a better offer than received from a group of New York financiers.

Denies Access to AEC

Lucius E. Burch, Memphis attorney for the New York financial group, testified before the committee that his group was denied access to the top AEC officials to discuss the proposition. He estimated it would save the government 150 million dollars over the Dixon-Yates offer but Nichols said the New York group refused to supply what he termed necessary details about its backing.

The transaction actually would supply power for the Memphis area to replace TVA power being fed to Paducah.

The antimonopoly subcommittee of the Senate asked the AEC once to hold up contract negotiations pending an investigation into whether free and competitive bidding practices were followed. In the pending atomic energy bill, however, the AEC specifically is authorized to negotiate for a private power contract.

visa restricting his trip to World Council activities.

Asked about rumors the bishop was a member of the Hungarian secret police, a State Department spokesman said at the time that information indicated Peter's visit should be limited.

However, a World Council leader, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, told newsmen there are no wraps on any delegates—Peter included—so far as what they do or say at the assembly.

Bishop Peter did not specifically praise or criticize the Hungarian regime but he did maintain conditions for health and growth of the church had improved in recent times.

He said God "having delivered us from many harmful bondages of the past," has kept his promise in the midst of the events of World War II and after it to reveal "his secret to his servants."

The Hungarian government, he said, in "guaranteeing the freedom of church life" provided for gradually decreasing state subsidies. He expressed gratification this was leading to church self-support.

"Our church which formerly relied on the income of apartment houses and landed estates lives now in an increasing measure by what its Lord decrees to sustain it," he said.

To the assembly, the greatest aggregation of Christian leadership ever gathered in America, the Hungarian bishop declared:

"I may tell you that there is no pulpit in our churches which has failed to voice in the last months the grand message of the world-Christ — the hope of the world."

This is the central theme of the assembly.

Charter Unit Sets Committee Of Education

Group To Map Plans For Gaining Support At November Election

A committee was named Monday night to select a chairman and map out a campaign plan for the promotion and passage of the proposed city charter for Marion.

The action was taken during a meeting at the YMCA of persons who had shown an interest in the formulation and promotion of the charter.

Named on the committee were Robert T. Mason, who will serve as temporary chairman, Robert Kibbey, Larry Sager, Robert Byrd and Mrs. Helen Axe, president of the League of Women Voters. The suggestion for the committee was made by Edward Oliphant.

Will Select Chairman

The group would be authorized to select the chairman, select a steering committee, and then sit down and work out a campaign to try to sell the voters on the merits of the proposed charter.

Mason presided at last night's meeting, Dr. Frederick Merchant, who had been designated as chairman last week, was unable to attend.

As a possible basis for the campaign plan, Mason suggested that the committee stress the things that have not been done by the present form of government which can be done under a city-manager type government, which would be instituted if the charter is passed in November.

The committee will hold another general meeting within two weeks to give a report of its progress, introduce the new permanent chairman, and outline the campaign to be followed.

Nine Names Added

Nine names were added to the list of those who will aid in the work of promoting the charter. They were J. S. Hotz, Mrs. Isabel Warwick, Robert Axe, Mrs. Violet Fetter, Miss Pansy Rauhauser, Mrs. B. N. Salzman, Byrd, Art Martin and W. C. Thomas.

These persons joined the 17 who signed up last week at the kick-off meeting of the promotion committee. In addition to those persons, the committee has indicated it will rely on support from those who gave support to the initial beginning of the Charter Commission last year.

High School Diploma Is Awarded 49 Years Late

TINGLEY, Ia. — (UP) — Mrs. Lulu Fullerton, 66, at the insistence of a granddaughter, was graduated with the high school class of 1954 because the lack of one credit kept her from receiving a diploma 49 years ago.

Mrs. Fullerton, a semi-invalid suffering from arthritic and heart conditions, took a typing course for the necessary credit.

She was to have graduated with the class of 1905 but was forced by illness to quit school two months before graduation. The school superintendent offered to let her make up the lost time by examinations, but the school board refused to sign her diploma.

Mrs. Fullerton then enrolled for one semester at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., largely making up high school credits. Her Monmouth credit left her one point shy of a high school diploma, however.

She attended graduation but did not take part in the exercises. She was handed her diploma by her granddaughter.

The United States produced a record 133,500,000 tons of iron ore in 1953, and imported 12,400,000 tons, also a record.

Claims Truck, Traffic Laws Ignored

Ohio Seeks ICC Probe of Truck Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio plans to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to investigate the general operations of the huge Kansas City trucking firm, Riss & Co., ICC records showed today.

Ohio already has filed its own case against Riss, asking that Riss truckers be banned from its highways as "willful" traffic law and truck regulation violators.

The state's public utilities commission has cited for the ICC 94 traffic arrests of Riss drivers over a nine-month period, and 376 arrests on violation of truck regulations over a six-month period.

To this, Riss has replied that it has no way of knowing whether these statements are true. In any case, it says, there is no indication that any violation was "willful." It says Riss trucks traveled more than 22,348,000 miles in Ohio during the time periods specified.

The company also says that to disrupt Riss operations in Ohio would be against the interests of national defense. Riss is a big explosives hauler for the defense department.

Ohio, in the cases it cites, claims Riss drivers have been convicted every time they were arrested or forfeited bonds.

Violations cited against Riss drivers include: Speeding, reckless driving, lack of care in passing, two hit-skip cases, improper explosive markings, failing to stop at railroad crossings, no log book or log book incomplete, no Ohio tax sticker.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey, early this month, asked the ICC for permission to enter the case on Ohio's side. They would be "interveners", or interested parties.

Ohio has suggested that the material developed in its case, together with information presented by Pennsylvania and New Jersey, might be used in an ICC investigation of Riss operations in all states the company serves.

The Ohio commission has promised soon to file more than 600 additional violations of ICC rules it says were committed by Riss drivers since the original complaints.

ICC Examiner W. T. Croft told a reporter he did not expect the Ohio-Riss case to start until "some time after the first of next year."

The hearing will start in Columbus, with Croft listening to the Ohio Public Utilities Commission side. Then he will hear Riss in Washington.

Any rebuttal testimony would then be heard in Columbus, Ohio

Fourth Armored Is Back in Operation

FORT HOOD, Tex. (UP)—The Fourth Armored Division, which helped make history during World War II, has returned to the active list of United States fighting units.

The unit had been dormant since returning from Europe in April, 1946. Brig. Gen. John K. Water heads the reactivated division.

Water said the addition of the Fourth to America's armored team which now numbers three division, would contribute greatly to the offensive combat capabilities of the U. S. Army.

The two other armored divisions are the First at Fort Hood, and the Second, now in Europe.

The Fourth played a prominent part in the "breakthrough" drive to liberate the famous 101 Airborne Division at Bastogne and finished the war in the final lightning thrust into Czechoslovakia.

Two Teachers Needed To Fill LaRue Staffs

A new resolution was recently passed by the local board of education regarding immunization for children entering the first grade this year. The resolution states that all children entering school for the first time be properly immunized for smallpox and diptheria, according to state law, or show evidence that such has been accomplished satisfactorily. It is further resolved that each new student be furnished with a certificate by the Marion County Health Commissioner properly signed by the health board or a qualified physician that such immunization has been accomplished.

Bids for the coal and gas and oil were recently received by the board and the contract for these were given to the lowest bidders, the Marion County Farm Bureau of LaRue for coal, and the LaRue service station for the gas and oil for the busses.

Father, 36, Drowns In Futile Attempt To Save Daughter

VERMILION, Ohio (AP) — A 36-year-old father and one of his seven children drowned yesterday when she slipped from a rock and he dived into the Vermilion River after her.

State highway patrolman said Donald Furman of Belden, Lorain County, had almost reached shore with the girl, Nancy, 13, when she began to struggle and they both sank.

Firemen worked over the victims for more than an hour. The accident occurred at a resort less than a mile from here.

In another drowning yesterday, William L. Santee, 69, of Toledo, died in Lake Erie near Port Clinton when a rowboat in which he had been fishing capsized during a squall.

HPM APPROVES DIVIDEND

MOUNT GILEAD—At the board of directors meeting of The Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. last Thursday, the board passed a resolution that a dividend of 37 and one-half cents per share be paid to preferred shareholders as of the close of business Aug. 20 and payable Sept. 1.

In the Middle Ages the feeding of animal milk to babies was discouraged because it was believed it would cause children to acquire some of the traits of the animals.

Roberts Gains 18th Win as Phils Thump Brooklyn

Philadelphia To Meet Giants Tonight; Dodgers Trail by 1

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

The Philadelphia Phils, last team outside the New York area to win a National League pennant get a chance tonight to show whether they're playing favorites in the 1954 flag chase

They move across the river from Ebbets Field to the Polo Grounds for the first of a three-game series with the slump-ridden New York Giants

Last night the Phils did the Giants a big favor by thumping Brooklyn 9-6 when the Dodgers had a chance to pull within two percentage points of the lead Instead, the Dodgers headed West to Pittsburgh trailing by a full game with 38 to play

The Giants have beaten the Phils eight out of 10 times so far and they would like to think they could resume the pleasant pastime of winning after losing seven of the last eight to other clubs Manager Leo Durocher has picked Johnny Antonelli (17-3) to attempt to halt the skid

The Dodgers had won 12 out of 18 from the Phils up to last night, but they couldn't keep up the pressure even though they caught Robin Roberts on what must have been one of his wildest nights in the majors

The Philadelphia righthander walked four men in the first inning and a total of six in the game He had walked only 33 before last night He was charged with a wild pitch and might have been charged with several more except for some acrobatic backstopping by Smoky Burgess. And the Dodgers banged eight solid hits two of them homers by Pee Wee Reese and Gil Hodges

Despite this Brooklyn was ahead only once and didn't have a real chance after the fifth The pitching staff fell apart Rookie Bob Darnell, making his first start, couldn't get anybody out in the third Clem Labine and Preacher Roe got roughed up in the fifth when the Phils put it out of reach on six hits and an error which produced five runs

The Milwaukee Braves the hottest team in the league take their nine-game winning streak into a three game series at home against the St Louis Cardinals Twice before this year the Braves have won 10 in a row They trail by 3½ after making up a dozen lengths since July 4

Over in the American League the series to watch is at Cleveland where the Indians, winners of six in a row play host to the Detroit Tigers The Tigers were the last to beat them, exactly a week ago when Ned Garver shut them out on five hits

Although they are well on their way to finishing with the worst average ever compiled by a fourth place team, the Tigers may yet have a lot to say about the American League pennant

They quietly, but decisively ended the Chicago White Sox chances with a doubleheader sweep Sunday and they have 10 games left with Cleveland including tonight

The White Sox still have a mathematical chance of course; since they have 36 games to play and are 9½ behind But it would take an unlikely collapse of both Cleveland and New York, plus a virtually unbroken winning streak of their own to put the Chicagoans back in serious contention

Two teams have been eliminated from all pennant hope Over the weekend the Baltimore Orioles and the Philadelphia Athletics fell more games behind the Indians than they have left to play

While Cleveland is busy with the Tigers, the second place New York Yankees three games back expect to stretch their seven-game winning streak at the expense of the Athletics in a series opening tonight in Philadelphia

The Phils-Dodgers game was the only action in the majors last night.

Local Group Confident of Buying A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry Sylk appears increasingly confident his local syndicate will be successful in its bid to buy the Philadelphia Athletics American League baseball franchise

Disclosing yesterday that the local offer for the club was 2½ million dollars Sylk said he believed "it's a certainty the A's will remain in Philadelphia and I don't know of another local offer for the club"

The drugstore chain executive again expressed skepticism of reports that Chicago businessman Arnold Johnson had offered 4½ million for the franchise Johnson wants to move the A's to Kansas City

Sylk also disclosed yesterday that his group's offer included retaining Roy Mack as executive vice president of the club and Roy's father, 91-year-old Connie as "honorary chairman because of his many years in baseball" Roy's brother Earle would be allowed to reinvest his money as a stockholder in the new corporation along with his father and brother

Sylk said his group plans to spend two million dollars fixing up the ball park and improving the team

He said one reason he is so certain the club will not be moved West is Washington and Baltimore's sure opposition to such a transfer

Reds To Play Chicago Twice

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds can take the edge in the 1954 series with the Chicago Cubs during the current four-game stint at Wrigley Field

Going into today's doubleheader, the Reds have trimmed the Windy City boys in 10 contests while losing four So all they need is a split here to give them more than one-half of the 22 games the two teams play

Last week Manager Birdie Tebbets and the Cincinnatians took three straight from the Chicagoans at Crosley Field But the Cubs are much stronger at home where they have won two and dropped three to the Reds

Both the Cubs and Reds were idle yesterday

Warren Nine Tops Chicago 1-0 in Pony Loop World Series

WASHINGTON Pa (AP) — Tom Kalahar singled home a run in the ninth inning to give Warren Ohio, a 1-0 victory over Chicago in an opening game of the Pony League World Series yesterday

Kalahar's hit brought in Bob Funge, who had singled, gone to second on a sacrifice by Ronnie Massucci, and stolen third

The game was scheduled for seven innings

In the other opening game San Antonio, Tex, defeated Waltham Mass, 13-0 Other games were postponed by rain

Tonight's action puts Monongahela (Pa) against Camden (S C) and Beverly Hills (Calif) against Greensboro (N C)

Two defeats are necessary to eliminate a team

Yesterday's STARS

BATTING — Smoky Burgess Philadelphia Phils collected two doubles and two singles in five times at bat in the Phil's 9-6 victory over Brooklyn

PITCHING — Robin Roberts Philadelphia Phils became the first pitcher in either league to win 18 games beating Brooklyn 9-6 despite early wildness

Indians Begin Last Major Trip; Lemon To Hurl First

CLEVELAND (AP) — After four games at home with the Detroit Tigers Cleveland's Indians start their last major road trip of the season—a 19-game affair that could make or break their pennant drive

The series with Detroit opens tonight, with Bob Lemon bidding for his 17th victory and eighth straight. George Zuverink is the Detroit choice

The league leading Tribe is three games ahead of the second place New York Yankees If the Indians return home with that same margin at the end of the road trip they will be a hard team to catch

The way things look now this season will become the first in history in which a major league baseball team wins 100 games and finished in only second place

It should be no trick for either the Yankees or Indians to reach that mark The Yanks can do it by winning 20 of their remaining 37 games while the Tribe must win 18 of 39

No team in the league ever won more than 110 That mark was set by the Yankees of 1927 often called the greatest ball club ever assembled.

Tribe Hurlers Top Yanks for Complete Tilts

NEW YORK (AP)— Cleveland Manager Al Lopez must be wondering today just how many more complete games he can count on from his Indians' pitching staff which has produced 59 in 117 starts this season for the major leagues best record

While Lopez has had to call to his admittedly improved bullpen in less than half of Cleveland's games New York Yankee pitchers have come up with only 34 route-going jobs in the 118 games they've

Carl's Loses

Mac's To Meet Victory Team for Title at Galion

Mac's Trading Post of Marion and Victory Market of Mount Vernon were all set to battle in the district softball tournament finals tonight at Galion after Mount Vernon eliminated Carl's Auto Parts of Marion last night.

Victory Market blanked Carl's, 3-0, in the battle of once-beaten teams for a berth in the district finals.

The championship tilt is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight. A Mac's win would give it the district title outright and a trip to the state tourney while a Victory Market victory would force a second game immediately following the first to decide the district crown.

Sonny Taylor, who had hurled four straight shutouts for Carl's in previous district tournament play, held the winners hitless and runless until the sixth frame. Victory Market scored all three runs in the sixth to break Taylor's spell of 33 scoreless innings in district play.

R. Johnson, the Victory Market pitcher, was bagged for four hits. The safeties were garnered by Chuck Wynn, Howard Grubbs, Knute Reifsnyder and Jim Frank.

Legion Golfers Keep Slender Industrial Lead

American Legion Post 162 protected its lead in the Marion Industrial Golf League by downing its nearest competitor yesterday.

The Legion post edged B. F. Goodrich, 4½-3½, to hold onto its slender league lead. The match left the Legion team at the top of the league heap with 32 points, trailed by Goodrich with 30½.

Marion Industries remained right on the leaders' heels by splitting with Gulf Refining, 4-4, while in other action, Marion Power Shovel defeated Marion Engineer Depot No. 1, 4½-2½, Tecumseh nipped Marion Engineer Depot No. 2, 4½-3½, and Marion Engineer Depot No. 3 downed Erie Railroad, 5½-2½.

Yesterday's action left Marion Industries in third spot in league play with 29 points. Then come Marion Engineer Depot No. 1, 28½; Marion Engineer Depot No. 2, 27½; Tecumseh, 22½; Marion Engineer Depot No. 3, 19; Erie Railroad, 18½; Marion Power Shovel, 17½; and Gulf Refining, 15.

Low net scores in yesterday's action were a 30 by B. Caldwell and 31's by J. Willis, A. Stewart and W. McIntire.

played, figures compiled by The Associated Press reveal.

Bob Lemon and Early Wynn each have gone the distance 14 times for the American League leaders. Mike Garcia has 12 complete games, Art Houtteman 9, Bob Feller 8 and Don Mossi and Ray Narleski 1 apiece. Feller had only 4 all last year.

In the National League, thanks to Robin Roberts, the major's individual leader, the Philadelphia Phillies show the top mark of 52 complete games, one more than the surging Milwaukee Braves.

Roberts has started 29 games and finished 21 of them, including last night's 9-6 victory over Brooklyn. He has won 18 and lost 10.

Actually, Bob Porterfield of Washington shows the majors' most impressive complete-games slate. The Senators' righthander, has started 24 games and completed 18. His won-lost record, however, is an unimposing 11-11.

The poorest team records belong to the Cincinnati Redlegs with only 22 complete in 116 games and the St. Louis Cardinals with 27 of 115.

27th National Coondog Trials Set at Bucyrus

About 700 dogs from all over the nation will compete in the 27th annual Leafy Oak National Coondog Field Trials September 5-6 at Seccaium Park near Bucyrus.

Oldest and biggest coondog trials in the country, the event will be in Bucyrus for the first time. The past 26 have been in Kenton.

More than 20 states will have entries in the trials, which have a total purse of $20,000. Two winners will be chosen, a line winner — first dog to pass through a marked off area — and a tree winner — first dog to "tree" a coon.

New accomodations have been built for the trials at the park which is located five miles east of Bucyrus on Route 19. Competition will be held in a small area so that spectators can see both line and tree winners.

Forerunner of the Leafy Oak trials, the Ohio Field Trial, was held in Marion Sept. 27, 1924.

Tag Team Match Slated as Armory Wrestling Feature

A six-man tag team match has been arranged for the main event at Thursday's wrestling program at the Marion Armory.

Appearing in the two-out-of-three fall main event will be Gino Angelo, Rip Hawk, Tommy Nylon, who will form one team, and Steve Novak, Hill Billy Willie and Frenchy Roy on the other.

Most of the wrestlers are television performers seen from Chicago's Marigold Gardens.

Three one-fall matches beginning at 8:00 p.m. will precede the main event. Gino Angelo will go against Steve Novak, Rip Hawk against Hill Billy Willie and Tommy Nylon against Frenchy Roy in preliminary matches.

Former OSU Diving Stars To Perform For Polio Hospital

Bruce Harlan and Hobert Billingsley, former Ohio State University Olympic diving stars, will present an hour-long program for the benefit of the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Delaware County Swimming Pool at Delaware.

The act will include the championship form displayed by the pair during their varsity years at OSU and also a comedy act they have presented during a world tour since. Both have entered the entertainment world since their graduation.

Harlan and Billingsley have appeared in command diving performances before Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen of Holland, the Sultan of French Morrocco, and have had successful seasons in London and Paris as well as appearances on television in the United States.

The two diving stars are volunteering their services for the benefit exhibition.

Probes 'Shakedown' Reports

Grand Jury Investigates State Liquor Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former liquor enforcement agent John Kocevar was to appear before a grand jury today in its investigation of reported shakedowns in the state liquor department.

Kocevar, formerly in charge of the Canton - Portsmouth district, also is appearing before the civil service commission which started a hearing yesterday on his move to be reinstated in his job.

Dropped from the state payroll when he couldn't be located for questioning after reports of briberies shook the liquor department, Kocevar yesterday challenged state officials to bring charges against him.

Kocevar's attorney, Charles Schnurr of Akron, told the commission:

"Let's reinstate John Kocevar in his job and then file charges against him. I have no fear of going into any phase of this thing."

Claims Leave Asked

Kocevar contends he applied for sick leave and left his job assuming his request was granted. The department claims no such permission was given. Department officials said they were unable to contact Kocevar during his absence.

Enforcement Chief Edward J. Allen said Kocevar's request for a sick leave was forwarded to him. Allen said he took no action on it because he lacked authority. He said he forwarded it to Liquor Director Anthony A. Rutkowski.

Rutkowski told the commission he asked the attorney general for a formal opinion on the question of whether he had the right to refuse leave request.

The attorney general's opinion said Rutkowski had this authority. It was prepared July 21 and six days later Assistant Liquor Director Joseph S. Harrell notified the commission of Kocevar's "automatic resignation." Rutkowski was on vacation.

Quizzed on Trip

Allen told the commission the request for sick leave came shortly after Kocevar was being questioned about a 1952 trip to the British West Indies. On June 25, Allen said he called Kocevar into his office to discuss the trip when Kocevar met two men described only as Roy Kerr and James Duggan, both of Toledo.

Kocevar said the meeting was accidental.

Kocevar had been in charge of the Toledo area.

During yesterday's hearing, Harrell said the department had "no established practice" on approval or disapproval of sick leave applications.

Rutkowski described Kocevar as a good liquor enforcement officer. The director said Kocevar once saved his life when the agent kicked aside a shotgun aimed at Rutkowski during a 1949 raid on the Jungle Inn, a former Trumbull County gambling house.

During the June 25 discussion, Allen testified Kocevar received a phone call from Cleveland saying his mother was ill. Allen said Kocevar left for Cleveland under orders to report back for more questioning after his mother recovered. Kocevar denied such an order was given.

Hocking County Man Admits He Killed Farmer for 30 Cents

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Husky, 22-year-old Robert Lee Downs of Rt. 2, Rockbridge, admitted last night he killed an elderly farmer in a 30-cent robbery, Sheriff Jack Waldron said.

Downs was held in Hocking County jail. No charges had been filed.

The sheriff said Downs, an employe of a Lancaster wrecking company, confessed the shotgun slaying last May 22 of Dave Canfield, 70, who lived alone near Buena Vista. He made the confession, officers said, while being questioned about a stolen car.

According to the sheriff, Downs said he broke into Canfield's house, searched it for money, then took Canfield's .16 gauge shotgun and waited in brush nearby for Canfield to come home.

Downs took a short nap before firing into Canfield's face as the old man walked towards his home, Waldron said.

Canfield was found lying in a stream near his home last May 28, his face shattered from a shotgun blast.

Investigators said Downs told them he searched the farmer as the older man lay moaning from the wound. All Downs found was a homemade purse with 30 cents, they said.

Waldron said Downs told investigators that he broke Canfield's shotgun into three pieces and threw them away from the slaying. The sheriff said he found the barrel of the shotgun near the farmer's home yesterday when Downs re-enacted events for the officers.

A piece of the cartridge case was dug from Arevalo's shoulder at Brackenridge General Hospital.

Watkins Fears Prejudice in Censure Study

Notes Intense Feeling Over McCarthy, Wants To Be Open-Minded

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today he is so amazed at the "intensity of feeling" over Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) that he is going to quit reading newspaper editorials and his mail while he directs a study of censure charges against McCarthy.

"I don't want to have any prejudice in this investigation," he said.

His decision to lower a curtain on opinion reports—including those on radio and television—came as Chairman Mundt (R-SD) called the Senate Investigations subcommittee together to begin work on its McCarthy-Army report.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a member, said the Mundt subcommittee may get down to some voting tomorrow on conclusions members reached from 36 days of hearings on the controversy between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), another subcommittee member, was reported to have arrived at the conclusion that principals on both sides of the dispute were at fault.

The Chicago Tribune said Potter had given Mundt a report saying Stevens showed a lack of capacity for administrative decision and was motivated by a desire to end an investigation of communism in the Army. McCarthy, it said, was pictured as having done nothing to stop alleged efforts by Subcommittee Counsel Roy M. Cohn to get favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee aid. It said Cohn was also criticized as was Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Potter was not immediately available.

Thomas McIntyre, an aide to Potter, told a reporter the document "is nothing that Sen. Potter ever wrote, and I doubt that he even has read it through."

McIntyre described it as a "rough draft" which he personally had put together and submitted to Potter for criticism. McIntyre said he also handed a copy of it to an aide to Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho).

"It is something that has no implied approval from anyone on the committee," McIntyre said. "It is just some of my own work."

Always an inspiring moment in American politics is the morning after the primary when the party closes ranks behind one or the other of the dirty, lowdown, conniving so-and-sos.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today under the leadership of the oils. Trading was heavy.

Motors were also higher as stockholders of Packard and Studebaker voted overwhelmingly to merge. Railroads and utilities continued yesterday's improvement. Aircrafts were neglected.

Trading started at an extremely fast pace with large blocks fairly frequent. By mid-morning volume had diminished slightly and a more selective tone prevailed. In the early afternoon there was some backing away from morning highs, but the general tone remained firm.

Thompson Products Inc. jumped several points after directors voted to split the stock.

Among the gainers were U S. Steel, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, National Distillers, Zenith, American Telephone, Anaconda, Dome Mining, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Atchison, Southern Railway, Standard Oil (NJ), Sinclair Oil, Royal Dutch, Standard Oil of California and American Airlines.

Somewhat lower were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Westinghouse, American Can, Bullard, U.S. Gypsum and Texas Pacific Land.

Rodgers Hurls Hitless Game, Beats Police 1-0

Prospect's Bob Rodgers twirled a no-hitter in blanking Marion's Fraternal Order of Police team, 1-0, last night at Lincoln Park in the series opener for the County Teen League championship.

Rodgers fanned 18 and allowed only one man to reach base up to the seventh frame when the FOP squad threatened by loading the bases.

With the bases loaded on three walks and two out, Eddie White flied to the left fielder to end the game. It was the only ball hit out of the infield during the entire game.

Rodgers, given an unearned run in the opening frame, proceeded to retire the first 11 men he faced on strikeouts before he hit Tex Burns. He retired the side on strikeouts over the first five frames before the leadoff batter in the sixth popped up to the pitcher. Two more strikeouts concluded the sixth before Rogers encountered some trouble in the seventh.

Dave Gallimore was the FOP hurler. He gave up only three hits while striking out 11 and walking one.

The best two-out-of-three game series continues tonight at Prospect at 8 p.m. The third game, if necessary, will be played Thursday at 8 p.m. at Lincoln Park.

Prospect won the American League crown in the Teen League when Green Camp forfeited a double-header to Prospect over the past weekend because most of its players were on vacations. A split in the series would have left Prospect and the Marion Indians tied for top spot in the league.

FOP won the National League title, with Morral finishing second, Claridon - Caledonia - Martel third and LaRue last. Following Prospect and the Indians in the American were Green Camp and Pleasant.

Browns Cut 4, Squad At 40 for Practice Tilt

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Browns cut four rookies from the squad yestedray, leaving it with a roll of 40 for the opening exhibition game at Green Bay Saturday night.

The reductions were at the expense of Irv Holdash, center from Youngstown and the University of North Carolina; Bob Langas, end from Wayne; Dick Raidel, another Youngstown youth who played guard for Kent State; and Howard Chapman, end from the University of Florida.

BUCYRUS WINS

Bucyrus won a North Central Ohio Baseball League contest Sunday from Nevada. Ten runs in the second frame carried Bucyrus to an 11-4 win. McDonald was the winning hurler. Sharp had two triples for the winners.

Teenager Has 'Dreamy' Afternoon as 'Bat Girl'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Catherine Young, a 14-year-old school girl, recently wrote the sports editor of The Houston Post saying that the "unfulfilled dream" of her life was to be "bat girl" for the Houston Buffs of the Texas League.

Teen-ager Catherine served as "bat girl" for three innings when the Buffs played Beaumont. "They were dreamy moments," was her comment about the three innings.

BROTHERLY LOVE

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Both the professional and amateur records for the Charleston Country Club are shared by two ses of brothers. Henry and George Picard set the record for the pros with scores of 62. Frank and Drayton Ford, Charleston amateurs, each has netted a ribbon winning

Johnny Druze, Notre Dame end coach, was captain of the 1937 Fordham football team. He also played first base on the baseball squad. One of his diamond mates was Hank Borowy, who later pitched for the Yankees, Phillies and Cubs.

Marciano Says Less Training For Title Bout

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano figures the 15 rounds he boxed against Ezzard Charles June 17 did him more good than 200 rounds in training camp. Consequently, the heavyweight champ will warm up for the Sept. 15 rematch with "only" 100 rounds of gym work.

"I know it's not practical for the champ to fight more than once or twice a year," he said. "But I felt the best when I was going steady every month or so, like 1951 when I boxed seven times."

Apparently Manager Al Weill, and trainer Charley Goldman expect Charles, the ex-champ, to sprint 15 rounds in his third bid to win back the title he lost to Jersey Joe Walcott. They have brought in Joe Gannon, a fast-stepping Washington, D.C., boy for Rocky to chase.

Already down to 191 pounds, as compared to 187½ for his last bout, the champ still works about four hours a day. He goes on the road in the morning and boxes five days a week.

According to Goldman, the champ is working on his old payoff punch — the right hand. He concentrated on the left hand in his prefight work for the first Charles fight. Maybe he worked too much with the left. In any event, he is out for the knockout this time and the right hand is the KO weapon that flattened Walcott twice.

Frankie Ryff, the unbeaten Bronx lightweight, ran his string to 13 by winning an unanimous decision over Dennis (Pat) Brady last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

Gerry Dreyer, the South African who formerly held the British Empire welter crown, stopped Mexico's El Conscripto (Tommy Lopez) in 1:39 of the eighth round at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. A right uppercut, followed by a left hook, dropped the Mexican. He was just getting up at the 10-count, but Referee Mark Conn quickly stopped it when he saw Conscripto was in no shape to continue.

Middleweight Champ Bobo Nelson will break camp today and head for San Francisco where he defends against Rocky Castellani Friday.

Melbourne Sprinters Defeated by Streetcar

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Having trained in mad dashes to get to their several offices on time in the morning, some Melbourne Coburg Harriers sprinters matched their speed against local streetcars on a five mile sprint.

Running in relays with imaginary batons, the sprinters got a long lead in city traffic. But, in the clear suburb streets in the last quarter-mile the streetcar sped ahead to win by 12 seconds.

The Harriers covered the five miles in ten seconds under the half hour.

Angler's Double Play

BERLIN, N. H. (AP) — Big league double plays have little on the one pulled off by Anthony Dube and his son, Donald.

Dube, about 60, and his 33-year-old son were trolling from different boats in Maine's Lake Richardson. Suddenly a vicious strike tore the elder man's rod from his hand and into the water. Seconds later Donald felt a strike and reeled in to find his line had tangled with another. Attached was father's rod, reel and a 23-inch lake trout.

Still Hoping

BALTIMORE (AP)—When the Baltimore Orioles inherited what remained of the defunct St. Louis Browns there was one record held by the Browns which they hope will remain interred on the banks of the Mississippi.

That is a mark of 20 straight losses in their home park. The Browns established the record in their last season in the American League, 1953.

HELPFUL BEAR

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—Conservation Warden Leslie Walstron trailed a fisherman for some time, but the latter who appeared to be taking fish illegally, kept to the middle of the stream, legal limit of Walstron's authority. Then a full-grown black bear showed up on the opposite bank. Walstrom's erring fisherman yelled . . . and bounded right into the warden's arms.

BARRACUDA BAIT

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) Although water-skiers skim without fear over the infield lake at Gulfstream Park during racing season, they have just learned that a 33-pound barracuda has been hooked there by a track worker. Barracuda, with their long overhanging teeth, are dangerous to man. The fish enter the lake through sluices when pumps raise the water level to a required depth at the start of the racing season.

Of the 107 two-year old stakes winners in the United States during 1953, only two horses completed their season undefeated. Mrs John D. Hertz' Double Speed was the winner of his four starts and J. W. Rodgers' Duc de Fer was unbeaten in three starts.

Hastily-Passed Bill Revised

Senate Rush To Adjourn Tangles Anti-Red Action

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, called the most deliberative body in the world, has been anything but deliberate on some major legislation just because it s in a hurry to go home this week.

The Senate took its own good time most of this year It spent weeks, for instance, debating before defeating a proposal by Sen Bricker (R-Ohio) for a constitutional amendment to retrict treaty-making powers

It wasn't unusual. The Senate normally dawdles for months while its committees hold hearings on the bills finally drawn for action by the full Senate

The haste to get home showed up startlingly last Thursday when Sen Butler (R-Md) came up with a bill to deprive Communists-infiltrated unions of government help or recognition.

Humphrey Protests

Sen Humphrey (D-Minn) was one of the Senate Democrats who protested And Humphrey suddenly produced a blockbuster, an amendment to Butler's bill which all but hid it from view

He suggested outlawing the Communist party. This was exactly what the Eisenhower administration didn't want It had said so long ago. The government might have to spend years in legal argument for the law only to see it thrown out by the Supreme Court as unconstitutional

Besides, the kind of law Humphrey proposed might cut across and wreck other antisubversive laws which the government was using against the Communists

It might seem a measure so far-reaching as Humphrey's would require the most careful preparation and wording by a committee and its lawyers. But no committee had prepared it. Humphrey produced it himself.

Unanimous Vote

But the Senate, Democrats and Republicans alike, voted for it 85-0 It has been suggested the senators may have been aware this is an election year for many, and a politician can't be unpopular voting against communism.

The House was in a mood to pass it too. This is also an election year for House members But the Eisenhower administration, worried about the damage Humphrey's proposal might cause, got busy with House leaders.

They agreed to ram through a watered-down version of the Senate bill. This was done yesterday The House members were able to register a vote against the Communist party without penalizing individual members.

The House measure would not make it a crime to be a Communist It would deprive the party of any legal standing

But the House bill kept the Senate's views on handling Communist-infiltrated unions Last night, a few hours after House passage, Sen. Knowland of California, Senate leader of the Republicans, called it up The bill had to go back for compromise or approval because it differed from the original Senate version

Proposes Changes

Then Sen Butler arose again He wanted to make six changes in the House language on dealing with Communist-infiltrated unions

But no senator had a copy of Butler's proposals None had been printed or mimeographed The Senate was being asked to vote on Butler's explanation without seeing what was being voted on

When Sen Kefauver (D-Tenn) protested that the Senate at least ought to wait till today, when everyone could see in print the House bill and Butler s proposed changes Sen Knowland agreed It was to be voted on today after some hours of debate

Meanwhile the Senate rammed through last night an omnibus anti-subversion bill which may hold implications undreamed of by the senators who voted for it It s a complicated bill It provides death for peacetime spying tightens sabotage laws and requires people trained in spying to register with the government

Didn't Understand It

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) was chosen by the Republicans to steer it through But he was less than completely informed on the bill he was explaining Under questioning by Humphrey, he conceded he didn't know whether a House or Senate committee had held hearings on it

From others he learned a House committee had held hearings, before the House approved it but that there had been no Senate hearings Humphrey protested at this haste This, he said, was a "belated effort" by the Republicans "to make a legislative record"

Sen Case South Dakota Republican, promptly reminded Humphrey no committee had approved the bill he had so hastily offered last Thursday to outlaw the Communist party.

Michigan Men Handed Fines on Theft Charges

Four Jackson Mich, men accused of stealing a sprinkling can and two quarts of oil from a Marion County man pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Monday and were each fined $25 and costs.

The quartet was arrested Sunday by Ohio State Highway Patrolman G E Moore on a complaint of Bert Yoakum, operator of a filling station at Brush Ridge

Penmanship Urged Despite Atomic Age

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co thinks the post-war frenzy towards mechanization and "automation offices" has overlooked one of the most important arts of operating an efficient office — penmanship

In fact the firm is periodically sending its office personnel 'back to school' to re-learn the reading and writing of numbers

C L Scheetz, training director for the firm said that despite the 'electronic Einsteins' and complicated calculators the basic stuff is the hand-gathered hand-copied records which later are fed into punched card systems

Scheetz said studies show poor writing makes the numbers 5 3 and 8 difficult to distinguish from each other while numberals 1 and 7 also are easily confused He said penmanship exercises improve co-ordination between eye hand and brain

Scheetz bemoaned the 'hurried rush to complete mechanization' which "has all but obscured the fact that America's primary instrument for keeping work reports and other day-to-day statistical accounts is the common pen and pencil"

Baptist Church Planning New Course for Laymen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex —(UP)—A class in higher theology for laymen—believed to be the first course of its kind ever offered in the United States—has been instituted at San Antonio's Trinity Baptist Church

Dr W S McBirnie the church's young pastor who is conducting the experimental class said an effort would be made to make the course attractive to those who are advanced students of the Bible

'We will treat the pupils as though they were students in graduate schools of theology,' he said 'In other words the course, which will last through the summer season, will cover the equivalent of a regular seminary course exactly the same as that which graduate students in religion would be taught'

The course is open to the public free of charge.

DIVIDED THOUGHTS

WALLINGFORD, Conn — (UP) —Voters in two recent referendums overwhelmingly rejected proposals for building a new high school but approved having the state share a part of the building expense

A mid-western literary critic says he doesn't intend to read Faulkner's new book because he knows he won't understand it. Which should help him to keep the review down to about two columns.

Independent Utah Bank Head Likes To See Money Circulated

SALT LAKE CITY — (UP) — Walter E. Cosgriff, one of America's most unusual bankers, was born on the Fourth of July and has been independent ever since.

"Some people say I'm unorthodox," Cosgriff told the United Press in an interview shortly after purchasing a Nevada bank that built his system of affiliated units up to 21 banks in seven western states. "I'm glad to plead guilty to being just that—unorthodox."

The husky, 39-year-old former championship-playing amateur golfer explained that "the orthodox view of the banking business is that it forms a circle composed of the depositor, the borrower, the employes, and the stockholders, all at war with each other and each trying to get a bigger share of the pie.

"Under our system, we try to look at a banking operation as one entity," he continued. "We consider any injury to one of the four 'parties' as an injury to all. A bank is like a reservoir. The water in a reservoir does no good unless it is spread out over the land. The same with the money in a bank."

Whether the money in a bank is loaned out for farms for homes, for automobiles or for large or small business, he contended, "is immaterial as long as it is put to work where it will do the most good for all concerned."

The affiliated units Cosgriff owns or controls operate under various names in Salt Lake City, Richfield and Bountiful, Utah; Colorado Springs, Meeker and Rifle, Colarado; Boise, Richfield, Whitney, New Plymouth, Caldwell, Wilder, Idaho Falls, Marsing, Homedale and Bruneau, Ida.; Beverly, Kansas; Las Vegas, Nev.; Long Beach, Calif., and Evanston, Wyo.

Their total resources were estimated by Cosgriff at about $200,000,000—"a dwarf when compared with giants like Bank of America and its billions."

Each unit is operated through local control—"the local managers policies and we go along as long as they are sound"—and Cosgriff visits them infrequently.

In October, 1950, he went to Washington as a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation but resigned May 4, 1951, with the declaration that "I will henceforth have nothing to do with publicity-seeking Washington politicians who delight in the destruction of the reputations of innocent people in order to further their own political ambitions."

Cosgriff repeatedly has differed with banking controls imposed by the U. S. comptroller of currency, whom he repeatedly has accused of waging "a campaign of terrorism" by "issuing edicts and undertaking regulations far in excess of the powers delegated by Congress."

Cosgriff last year withdrew his Salt Lake City bank from "national" bank status and reconstituted it as a strictly state bank because of what he felt was federal "interference."

The Continental Bank and Trust Company, of which the youthful millionaire is president, has long been a family enterprise. When his father, James E. Cosgriff, died in 1938, the family controlled seven banks in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming.

"If I have contributed anything to banking," he said, "the thing I am most proud of is raising the standards of wages of bank employes. Through salaries and bonus plans, we increased their return and other banks had to follow. I'm also glad that we've always been able to give the depositors the maximum return that the law will allow."

Postman Treed

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — Postmaster E. P. Whitman has appealed to the town council to do something about the duplication of street names which often cause mail to be misdirected. There are two Maple Streets and a Maple Avenue, one Hickory Street and a Hickory Avenue, two Pine Streets and two Locust Streets.

New Prawn Found

ROME (AP)—A giant new prawn has been dredged up near Santiago, Chile. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, with Headquarters in Rome, says it's succulent and mysterious.

An FAO biologist recommended that fishermen try some deep trawling along the ege of Chile's continental shelf.

Some of the fishermen made hauls of a half a ton of the new species. The new prawns have not been named, a fact which is causing practically no concern in Chile. Fishermen continue to haul them up, the markets are buying them at high prices and local prawn patrons are eating them with relish.

Doctor Family

BROOKVILLE, Pa. (AP) — This town of nearly 5,000 believes it has more members of one family practicing medicine than any community of its size in the country. Five physicians answer to the name of "McKinley." They are Dr. A. C. McKinley, who began as a general practicioner in 1926, and his four sons — the doctors Oscar V., Wayne S., William Mark and A. Randon McKinley.

Grand Slam in Music

DETROIT (AP)—Gordon Mitchell, 27, was acquitted of assaulting his wife with the door of their home. Mitchell came home one night and found his wife Margaret, 25, entertaining some women friends with whom she likes to sing "barber shop" tunes.

Mrs. Mitchell went outside to bid them goodnight. Mitchell slammed the door. Margaret slammed it back. He slammed again. So did she. The next slam caught Margaret's elbow. It went through the glass in the door. Her arm was cut. She went to court.

Assault and battery was out. Mitchell hadn't laid a finger on her. So she charged him with "assault with a grade door."

Justice of the Peace Randall C. Koehler decided the whole thing was an accident and acquitted Mitchell.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Automobile license tag sales in Florida so far this year totaled $27,301,000 — an increase of 9.14 per cent over the corresponding period last year. Motor Vehicle Commissioner E. V. Fisher expects the total to reach 30 million dollars before the year ends.

Reconstruction and moving of the big highway to eliminate a bad curve doesn't exactly create a ghost town along the old route, but it leaves a couple of ghost filling stations and a phantom burger stand.

$242,000 in Building Permits Issued in Crawford for July

BUCYRUS — A permit for construction of a $150,000 storage building by the Swan Rubber Co. accounted for more than half of the $242,000 in building permits issued here during July by City Clerk Anita Deisler.

Mrs. Deisler said 17 permits were issued last month compared with 19 issued in July, 1953. Total estimated valuation in July, 1953, was $134,000. Since Jan. 1, total estimated building costs in the city amount to $748,825 compared with $647,420 for the first seven months of 1953.

In addition to the Swan Rubber Co. building, eight permits were issued last month for homes, costing $84,200, four for garages costing $2,450 and four miscellaneous projects, totaling $5,350.

3 Ohioans Jailed In Beloit Burglary

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police saw a man sitting in an auto along the Pennsylvania Turnpike counting a pile of money yesterday. Investigation resulted in the arrest of three Ohio men on burglary charges.

State policemen Robert Bock and Nick Polidora said they saw Joseph E. Crum, 22, Beloit, Ohio, counting the money. The officers said Crum told them the money came from a safe hauled away from a service station in Beloit last Saturday.

Further questioning led to the arrest of Joseph Shields, 26, Sebring, Ohio, and Kenneth Kinser, 23, Salem, Ohio. Police said they were picked up at a downtown Pittsburgh hotel with some of the stolen money in their possession.

The three were jailed here while the investigation continues. Police said they recovered about $500.

Auto and Truck Collide On Morrow County Road

One minor accident was reported in Morrow County Monday by state patrolmen from the Marion post. It happened on U. S. Route 42, one and four-tenths miles north of State Route 19 at 10:05 a.m.

A tractor trailer outfit driven by Paul R. Zorn, 29, of Niles and a car driven by Albert W. Engle, 62, of Canton both tried to pass a slowly moving mail car at the same time.

All three vehicles were headed north. The tractor trailer started around the mail car just as the Engle car started to pass both vehicles. Minor damage was done to the left front fender of the truck and moderate damage was done to the right front end and side of Engle's auto.

Engle was arrested and fined $10 and costs by Mayor Emery Murphy for passing without giving an audible signal.

Woman Takes Post As Crawford Clerk

BUCYRUS — Crawford County today had its second female clerk of courts in the county's history.

She is Mrs. Mabel Mullen, who was appointed by county commissioners to the post about two months ago and officially began her duties Monday, succeeding G. William Dustman, Bucyrus Republican, who resigned to accept a position with the Island Creek Coal Co. in Cincinnati.

The county's first woman clerk of courts was Miss Edith Forrest, Bucyrus Democrat, now deceased. She served two terms around 1930 after having been a deputy clerk for many years.

Mrs. Mullen, a deputy clerk for the past four years, actually has been acting clerk for the past three weeks while Dustman was on vacation. She will be a write-in candidate at the November election for the remaining two years of Dustman's term.

'Dieselizing' at Galion Brings Layoff for Six

GALION — Diesel engines replacing steam engines in the New York Central Railroad round house here is the reason given for the furlough of six men starting Wednesday.

Gradually the New York Central company has been "dieselizing" along the road and Galion is now all "dieselized," Trainmaster Theodore J. Brown said today. About a year ago, the freight engines in Galion were switched from steam to diesel. The railroad maintains three freight diesels and three switch engines in Galion, now all diesels. Some steam engines will be kept here in case of emergency, Brown said.

The reduction in employes at the round house is not 50 per cent, the trainmaster explained.

Investments Increase

Public Stock-Conscious Again, Brokers Declare

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Brokers say the public is coming into the stock market now. And that makes for quicker and wider swings in stock prices.

The public reacts much more violently than do institutional investors to news or rumors that affect confidence, seem to arouse big chances for gain, or, on the contrary, seem to call for caution or retreat.

And for almost a year now the institutional investors have been one of the chief supports of the rising market. These investors handle other people's money—the growing corporate pension funds, for instance, or the growing total of savings in the form of insurance, or the big educational, philanthropic or private trust funds.

THEY HAVE BEEN buying up the blue chips—the top-grade stocks with the best records of stability and the firmest foreseeable future.

As these blue chips have been salted away in the strong boxes of the big institutional investors, there have been fewer shares available for trading on the stock exchange. A flurry of demand for an issue, therefore, can send the price up faster than formerly because the supply to meet that demand is thin.

Brokers say that the recent interest in the secondary shares—the stocks priced lower than the blue chips and with more of a speculative tinge—is one evidence that the public is being drawn into the market. Another, they say, is found in some of the quick and wide swings in individual stocks due to corporate news or to rumors involving various companies.

With the public in the market, the chance of a big break is greater, according to the brokers, because the public takes fright faster and dumps its holdings.

THE INSTITUTIONAL investors, held to account for what they do with other people's money, are presumably more ready to ignore temporary swings in prices, since they bought for long-time gains or income. They don't dump stocks fast, although they frequently sell one stock to buy another if its prospects look more attractive.

The public also is more likely to respond to the psychological nudges that come from official proclamations of confidence, brokers say. The institutional investors for 11 months now have been buying up stocks, have shown a long-term confidence in the economy's future.

But that is quite another thing from expecting a quick boom in the next few months, based on any official assurances of future prosperity.

Should any such speculative boom develop, the conservatives in Wall Street would be disturbed, fearing it would lead to excesses for which the economy would have to pay later in a real recession.

Those who like to compare the present rising stock market trend with the one that preceded the big speculation upturn of prices and consequent bust in 1929 stress the role of the institutional investor in the market these recent months as setting this market aside from the 1929 one.

They also note another big difference: The exchange's present margin rules require that at least half of the price of the stock be put up in cash. In 1929 traders could buy on a shoestring—and get wiped out by a comparative mild drop in price. With the present high margin rule, it would take a really big break in prices to wipe out many traders.

And the present breed seems more cautious. Since the war, in fact, fear of a postwar recession has been a dominant factor in most business thinking. It has been a definite brake on speculation. It has helped keep the economy from going to the excesses that preceded and led to the 1929 bust.

Store Capitalizes On Competition's Sales Promotion

MILWAUKEE (AP)—In a promotion plan, the Kroger Co. supermarket in the new Bayshore shopping center mailed prospective customers coupons worth 25 cents when redeemed in merchandise. Soon the nearby Krambo Food store hung this banner in its window:

"We redeem all Kroger coupons at 30 cents."

Both stores say customer response to the coupons has been very good. Kroger will keep mailing out coupons and Krambo will go right on redeeming them at a nickle more.

Wholesale Price Of Coffee Reduced

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't get your hopes up too much, too soon, but coffee prices may take a turn for the better as the result of an easing of export regulations by Brazil.

A roasting firm that distributes in several Eastern States, Joseph Martinson Co., has cut its wholesale price 10 cents a pound to $1.20 and forecasts other processors will follow suit. Its wholesale price, however, still is about on a par with retail prices of some chain stores on their brands.

In Boston, Aborn's Coffee Corp. last night announced a 10 cents a pound cut in the wholesale price. Aborn officials said the price cut should be reflected in retail stores within a week. The retail price recently has been $1.40 a pound.

He also has been selected to make a trip to Greece in December to present Christmas gifts for CARE, U. S. international welfare agency. He is a 1954 graduate of Mansfield Senior High School.

Man 'Lives It High' On $1,600 Worth of Fraudulent Checks

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A man accused of financing six weeks of "easy living" on $1,600 worth of bad checks was jailed here yesterday.

A. R. Cunningham, 28, of Chester, W. Va., was arraigned on the bad check charge and held in default of $2,000 bond.

State police Sgt. C. C. Naddeo said Cunningham was arrested at the nearby Conneaut Lake Hotel, where he was posing as an airlines pilot.

Naddeo said Cunningham is suspected of having passed bogus checks in Akron, Youngstown, Ravenna, Steubenville, Ashtabula, Painesville, East Liverpool, Geneva and Cleveland, Ohio; Chester and Weirton, W. Va., and several cities in Pennsylvania.

BODY RECOVERED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Firemen yesterday recovered the body of 11-year-old William Brown, who drowned in a lake on Twin Rivers Golf Course while he and some playmates were diving for lost golf balls.

8 Union Members Appeal Sentences

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eight union members who received sentences from 4 to 41 years in Ohio Penitentiary for bombings last Nov. 30 during a strike at North American Aviation, Inc., have asked new trials.

Their attorney charged Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford with "an abuse of discretion" in imposing consecutive sentences.

The eight pleaded guilty to bombing three cars and garages of nonstriking plant employes. The strike lasted 54 days. No one was injured in the blasts.

The eight are Robert K. Weed, 31, Elmo Bothman, 31, Robert L. Suller, 32, Robert White, 27, and Raymond Hoskinsin, 36, all of Columbus; Bernard Angus, 45, of Rt. 1, nearby Reynoldsburg; Daniel L. Kentuckian Faces Grand Jury After Attack on Ohioans

MCKEE, Ky. (AP)—Leonard McKinney, 30-year-old ex-convict, talked it over with his parents yesterday and decided to waive examining trial on five charges, including kidnaping and assault, brought by a Hamilton, Ohio, couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Martin of Hamilton identified him as the man who forced his way into their car at gunpoint Friday night. They said he forced Martin and a companion, Ralph Hammons, 28, from the car and shot Hammons in the arm.

Mrs. Martin, about 21, said McKinnery drove her some distance away in the car and assaulted her twice. Mrs. Martin's 3-year-old daughter was in the auto but was not harmed.

McKinney is from Jackson County, Ky. He will be held without bond in the Madison County jail until the October grand jury meets, officials said. Besides kidnaping and assault, he is accused of malicious shooting, wounding with intent to kill and armed robbery.

Local Resident Hospitalized in Fatal Accident

A Marion man, injured in an accident north of Worthington Friday afternoon, is still in University Hospital in Columbus. Enos Irey, 56, of 848 E. Center St. was injured in an accident which resulted in the death of Frederick A. Moore, 60, of Worthington.

State patrolmen from the Columbus post reported Irey was driving south on U. S. Route 23 when Moore went through a stop sign at the Wilson Bridge Road one and three-tenths miles north of Worthington.

Moore's car was described as going at a "high rate of speed" by patrolmen. It smashed into the side of Irey's car, killing Moore and injuring Irey, A. B. Ebson, 34, and Clarence Irey, 60, both passengers in Irey's car and both from Fort Morgan, Colo.

All three were taken to University Hospital in Columbus. Enos Irey was suffering from fractured ribs and lacerations; Clarence Irey had internal injuries and possible fractured neck and back; and Ebson had knee and shoulder injuries.

Ebson was released from the hospital over the weekend. The other two were reported in "satisfactory condition" this morning. Hospital authorities said both had spent a good night.

"Your Dollar May Save A Child's Life"

About a year ago they began to dig

(With a Marion shovel, of course!)

What other kind could they possibly use
In a place that's a leading world source?
So they dug and dug for quite a while,
'Til the contractor said, "That's enough!"
Then they called in a lot of other men
To lay blocks, pour cement and such stuff!

Then carpenters came with hammers and saws,
And our building began to take shape.
The frames were all set, the roof was put on
While "sidewalk supers" continued to gape!
Contractors planned on the three big doors
Right out on West Center Street
And the double doors in the rear of the store
To the parking lot, which is our treat!

Then they laid the bricks, way up to the top
And the outside was nearly complete!
Next came plumbers, plasterers and painters
To give an inside appearance so neat!
Then all the finishing touches were added,
Which really include such a lot:
Fluorescent lighting and wide roomy aisles
And a 30 stool lunch counter spot!

You'll be so happy when you come inside
For the shopping is all on one floor!
Thirty thousand items of merchandise
In an all Air Conditioned store!
We're right across from the Harding Hotel,
And we're proud of our new Marion store!
We're hoping to meet you on opening day,
When you'll find bargains and values galore!

SEE YOU AT THE GRAND OPENING, THURSDAY, AUGUST 19!

No Vacation for the Mind

In due time, Congress will resolve its confusion and thousands of Washingtonians can go away on their annual vacations. Among these will be President Eisenhower and the members of his official family.

The President intends to go to Colorado. It is not where he goes, however, but the idea of his going that is important under the circumstances. There has come to be a habit among presidential critics of carping at the occupant of the White House for not spending all his time at his desk in Washington.

Nothing could be a more unrealistic approach to the realities of executive responsibility than this. There is no vacation for the mind when a president of the United States leaves Washington. There is only a change of locale for a human body being subjected to the most rigorous ordeal ever divised to wear down the health of an individual. Only the most thoughtless critic would try to make it appear that a president of the United States can leave his responsibility behind him by moving from one place to another.

Since there are critics who are expected to chide President Eisenhower for not staying at his desk continuously this year, although they themselves would not think of staying at theirs for more than a few hours a day, their criticism can be disregarded in advance. The American people want their chief executive to give himself every possible means of thinking clearly, free from the distractions of fatigue and weariness.

Anything for Sale?

A Russian spy in Japan named Yuri Rastvorov, it has been announced, double-crossed his employer last January and at present is being given political asylum in the United States.

Since last January, he has told everything he knows, according to the official account. This offset part of the damage done by another spy, Otto John, who recently double - crossed West Germany and fled to East Germany, where he also is telling everything he knows.

Things are lively in the spy market right now.

Rastvorov made his decision to sever his connection with the Kremlin's spy system when he received orders to return to Moscow from Tokyo, where it was his job to do everything in his power to hurt Japan and the United States. In the Russian spy hierarchy, he had been one of Lavrenti Beria's operatives. He feared the new gang in control of Russia would kill him if they got their hands on him. So he surrendered to the United States.

It is not easy to know what to make of these double-crossers who betray one country, then when they get weary of that or scared of their lives betray some other country. But it is easy to know why they should not be taken for granted when they declare they have been converted.

They have made careers of deception. The truth is not in them. They are for sale to the best bidder. If they become true converts —and some of them apparently do—they still must bear on their records the infamy of their former willingness to betray their fellow men.

Last April, a Soviet embassy secretary who had been ordered back to Moscow from his post in Australia turned himself over to the Australian police. He was praised extravagantly for his decision to stay outside the Iron Curtain. But a few days ago the Australian prime minister was challenged by the political opposition to deny that the "convert" had been paid five thousand pounds for documents that he had stolen from the Soviet Embassy.

One can only wonder how much some of the other converts to the freedom bloc may have received in ready cash, including the fees they receive for testifying against their former associates.

Label of Freedom

In the two-week assembly of the World Council of Churches of Evanston, every difference of opinion and belief held by delegates from more than 50 countries will be aired. The goal of this international organization is to preserve diversity of human thought and action while achieving unity of Christian purpose.

Since this is the only assembly of the World Council likely to be held in the United States in this century, its significance needs to be grasped even by persons not identified directly with the 160 denominations represented. The World Council is a major force in the showdown between human beings who subscribe to Christianity and those who reject the Christian creed. It was organized in Amsterdam six years ago. This is its second meeting.

The second meeting, like the first, will be noteworthy for its freedom of discussion. It will test a basic proposition in Christian living—that men of good will can live together peaceably and respect one another for their differences as well as their likenesses. Within the World Council itself there are some who would prefer to cast all men in the same mold, but they are not in the ascendancy. That would not be consistent with Christian precept or practice. Uniformity is the tell-tale trademark of the totalitarian. The label of freedom has as many designs as the free men who proudly wear it.

Censure Made Moot?

By David Lawrence

Senate's Past Actions Exonerate McCarthy

Various senators are discussing information that has just come to light which may make "moot" — the legal term for irrelevant — any censure action on all those charges against Sen. McCarthy relating to occurrences prior to January, 1953, now before a special Senate committee of six members. Three developments have occurred:

1. Revelation that the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections in its report at the end of the 82nd Congress, formally agreed that a number of the charges before it had become "moot" by reason of the 1952 election in Wisconsin.

2. Publication by the Washington Evening Star of a copyrighted article stating that agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau, after an eighteen-month investigation, have found nothing fraudulent in the income tax returns of the Wisconsin senator.

3. Evidence supporting in effect a statement in May 1954, by the Wisconsin senator saying that it is not unlawful to receive confidential information from employes in the executive departments.

It develops that although a federal statute prohibits the disclosure of confidential information by employes of the executive branch of the government and threatens them with jail penalties for violation, the recipient — whether it be a senator or a newspaper—may feel justified in publishing the information.

THE FORMAL REPORT of the subcommittee headed by Senator Hennings of Missouri, Democrat, which contained all the charges concerning Senator McCarthy's sale of a booklet on housing of veterans to the Lustron Corporation, the attacks on Gen. Marshall, and all the innuendoes about other alleged improprieties, was made to Congress prior to the time the new Senate of the 83rd Congress in January, 1953, had an opportunity to accept or reject the Wisconsin senator's credentials after his 1952 election. In an addendum filed at the last minute early in 1953, the senate subcommittee said:

"The foregoing report is based substantially on testimony and exhibits which were presented before the subcommittee on privileges and elections. However, because of a lack of continuity, in committee membership and delays beyond the control of the present membership of the committee, its preparation has given us great concern, as a number of its aspects have become moot by reason of the 1952 election. Such facts therein as were known to the people of the states particularly affected have been passed upon by the people themselves in the election."

THIS REFERS to a well-established point of constitutional law, namely that a member of Congress just elected can be tried as to his "qualifications" only at the opening of a new term, and if his credentials are accepted without reservation he cannot be challenged again. Sen. McCarthy's credentials for his present term were accepted in January 1953. Whatever alleged misconduct as a member of Congress took place during his preceding term, including speeches, must be questioned.

This leaves the matter of income tax returns. For if the Treasury Department were to present any criminal charges during the present term it could affect the continuance in office of a member of Congress so charged. But the Washington Evening Star last week said concerning the investigation of Sen. McCarthy's income taxes: "The case covers the tax years from 1946 through 1952. The tax agents do not contend that Sen. McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent."

The newspaper headline across the top of its front page did say that the same "revenue agents" claim that Sen. McCarthy "owes $25,000 in back taxes and interest." The Wisconsin senator flatly denies this. Both the newspaper and the senator could be right at different times in the proceedings —depending on the outcome of the case and whether the technical or colloquial use of the word "owe" was intended. At the moment the senator does not technically "owe" anything. Nobody owes the treasury any money until a formal deficiency assessment is filed, which has evidently not been done in Sen. McCarthy's case. Even this may be contested for months or years through various boards inside the Internal Revenue Bureau and through the U. S. Tax court before it is finally decided whether a taxpayer actually owes anything in back taxes.

THE WISCONSIN SENATOR, although displeased by what he claims is the damaging effect of the newspaper headline, can derive satisfaction from its publication, because in a sense it proves a point he has been making, namely that whatever laws may govern executive employes who take an oath not to divulge confidential or classified information, this does not necessarily affect any one outside the government who receives such information and publishes it. The internal revenue law in Section 7213 says:

'It shall be unlawful for any officer or employe of the United States to divulge or to make known in any manner whatever not provided by law to any person the amount or source of any income, profits, losses, expenditures, or any particular thereof set forth or disclosed in any income return, or permit any income return or copy thereof or any book containing any abstract or particulars thereof to be seen or examined by any person except as provided by law; and it shall be unlawful for any person to print or publish in any manner whatever not provided by law any income return or any part thereof . . . . " The penalty is a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for one year, or both, and if the guilty offender is a federal employe he must be discharged from the government.

But the Constitution says Congress shall not make any law abridging freedom of the press, and it is questionable whether anyone in the employ of a newspaper can be punished for printing news about persons in public life. The really important fact is that while Attorney General Brownell recently stated publicly that the Department of Justice had found no violation of any federal laws by Sen. McCarthy, he did say at the time that an examination of income tax returns by the Treasury Department had not been completed. Now it is revealed through the Washington Evening Star article that, while there may be a civil dispute between the Internal Revenue Bureau and Sen. McCarthy about back taxes—and many members of Congress have their returns questioned and often pay additional taxes—no evidence of fraud or crime is involved here. Apparently this was the same conclusion reached by the Truman administration which also examined Sen. McCarthy's income tax returns.

Helicopters To Play Big Role in Atom War

By Norman Lindhurst

HEIDELBERG

Revolutionary helicopter - borne striking forces are being developed by the United States Army in Germany to fight the atomic war of the future.

American commanders who must live within the shadow of the Soviet atomic peril believe—and outspokenly so—that the conventional roadbound army is doomed. They see the helicopter as its only salvation.

Since the first tentative employment of the helicopter in Korea, the U. S. Army has made tremendous headway toward the creation of "helicopter armies"—small, lightly armed striking forces with lightning mobility.

Nowhere has the pace of development of this three-dimensional warfare been greater than in Germany. American generals here know that their present forces, weighted down with ponderous supply lines, would be so many sitting ducks in an atomic war.

Just now the emphasis is on using helicopters for battlefield supply. Helicopters haul gasoline, ammunition and food. They drop commandos in the enemy's rear. They do reconnaissance, and evacuate the wounded. They withdraw units cut off by enemy forces.

A WHIRLYBIRD CAN carry 32 five-gallon gas cans in a net sling, drop them to an isolated unit and tote the empty gas cans back to the supply point, doing in 20 minutes what it would take a truck two hours to accomplish.

Three helicopters can accomplish miracles in supplying an infantry battalion on shuttle flights between the supply point and the unit's position in the field.

Gen. William M. Hoge, the U. S. commander-in-chief in Germany, is one of the army's strongest advocates of helicopter tactics to counter atomic warfare. Hoge, a corps commander in Korea, recalls that "We accomplished miracles with a few helicopters."

OF THE HELICOPTER and the atomic bomb, the general says: "Because of the mobility and destructiveness the use of atomic weapons portends, we must give much thought and planning to a system of logistics which is flexible and fast, capable of operating in a two-sided atomic fight.

"Our communications must be developed for rapid deployment of its axis, either laterally or in depth. Our combat transportation systems, with their loads of supplies, must fall into the pattern that a rapid, highly mobile war will dictate. For this reason we have proceeded so rapidly in the development of helicopters and army light aviation."

Hoge's helicopter generals believe that the days of vast supply columns and endlessly varied weapons have been ended by the thermonuclear era.

The infantryman's rising standard of battlefield living, made possible by the advance in motor transport between World Wars I and II, is also due to suffer.

HELICOPTER WARFARE, as the generals point out, will probably mean a return to the theory of the self-contained soldier, traveling light—but fast.

Since the U. S. now has the hydrogen bomb to employ against great concentrations of troops and atomic bombs to use against less rewarding targets, American generals must assume that the Soviets possess, or soon will, the same thermonuclear capabilities.

As a result, they believe the vast supply dumps and equipment-staging areas of World War II are doomed along with the bumper-to-bumper convoys. Dispersal against thermonuclear bombing will mean spacing in terms of miles instead of yards.

American generals believe that the helicopter is only in its infancy. Present tactics are geared to a light machine of 180 pounds carrying two persons, another weighing 1,000 pounds for nine persons and a heavy whirlybird lifting five tons or 19 persons.

But these, predict the generals, are only forerunners of craft able to carry 100 or more infantrymen and lift many tons of cargo. Jet propulsion, they predict, will give the helicopter a speed making it all but immune to ground fire.

Slow and ungainly as the helicopter now is, it has proved far less vulnerable in Germany to attack than trucks. Flying by ground contact, the eggbeaters can move at night; they can fly low, keeping out of radar cover and they can resort to a greater range of evasive tactics than any road vehicle.

AT PRESENT the U. S. Army in Germany counts its helicopters in the tens. But the number is growing rapidly. Soon fleets of hundreds will be available to shuttle supplies and troops from one area of the battlefield to another.

As helicopters become larger and more numerous, the helicopter generals predict the airdrop of supplies, equipment and paratroops from transport planes will become obsolete. Even now, using flying boxcar-type cargo aircraft, Hoge's forces drop, almost as routine, heavy equipment, including 105-millimeter artillery pieces, and gasoline by means of new type parabolic parachutes.

What the transport plane does now, the helicopter is on the way to doing on an even more prodigious scale. And, important, in the field of eggbeater warfare, the United States, claim the generals, is far ahead of Russia

Your Own Nostalgia

By TRUMAN TWILL

You get your nostalgia your way, I'll get mine by —

Remembering the odor of freshly ground coffee in a kitchen aromatic with the smell of breakfast being prepared over an old-fashioned cook stove;

Remembering the feel of wet grass in th morning on th bottoms of a pair of well calloused feet itching to take off on a day's worth of creek fishing;

Seeing an old-time automobile and recalling the thrill of those first few ecstatic rides in a mechanical go-devil that moved at the speed of wind;

Hearing the tunes quartets used to sing on gramaphone records, when it still was all right for a song to have a melody;

Listening to crickets and tree frogs on a summer night in dog days with a harvest moon beaming down on a world at peace with itself until morning;

Revisitig old schoolhouses where teachers who now have died or retired worked patiently to fan the glowing coals of curiosity in my closed mind;

Looking again at faded pictures of school mates and friends who have strayed afar and will not return;

Smelling the fragrance of crushed grass at a county fair, a circus, or a tent show and remembering Russell Conwell's famous lecture on "Acres of Diamonds" in the Chautauqua series back home;

Reminiscing about events of the distant past that were exciting when they occurred, such as the time I sprinkled salt on the sunburned back of my brother's fiancee when she was a visitor in our home;

Looking at a locker room squirming with boys after a football practice and remembering how it felt to take a cold shower after a sweaty practice session;

Recalling the way my father made a special point of asking how much money I had when I started away from home for a date and making me take as much again as I said I would need so I'd be sure to have some to spare;

Thinking about the family reunions my mother's family always had in the latter half of August, with a tent over the tables, dozens of pies, cakes and tins of pressed chicken and an enormous crock of lemonade to be dipped up for the asking

Looking at the titles on a set of Charles Dickens' works in the library and wondering how many times I reread "David Copperfield";

Getting a whiff of a wood fire at twilight when the air is crisp and the kids of my generation would have organized a weenie and marshmallow roast;

Hearing the plunk of a football being kicked;

Hearing a mother call her kids to come home to supper;

Tasting that unbeatable combination of tomatoes and roasting ears fresh out of the garden;

Getting a letter from an old friend;

Reminiscing about the sense of security everybody used to have when the most frightenig thing on earth was Kaiser Wilhelm's Big Bertha cannon that could lob a shell 25 miles;

Walking into a modern school house and encountering the educational miasma of chalk dust, varnish and dry rot that hangs over every school child until he is pushed out into the world.

Moscow says that all those heroic mountain climbers doing such great feats are spies. . . . That's what we call spying the hard way. . . . Getting inside data on slippery cliffs, no doubt.

Radio Corporation has slashed the price of color TV sets from $1,000 down to $495. This is a plain admission that it realizes there was too much red in the color scheme

In Buffalo a man was arrested for riding a bicycle while drunk. He got a jail term. . . . "No hands" may be okay, but riding "no head" is too much.

TV heads declare that the ban on video coverage of the Six-Man probe of Joe McCarthy is grossly discriminatory against the public. Yes, but television couldn't hold the public to this one even with a box top contest and a name band

We accidentally tuned into an afternoon TV program, "Dance Time," the other day and ran into a youthful master of ceremonies, Allen Ludden, who seems a surefire bet for a big-time TV career. The lad is a Godfrey with 25 years off. Funniest song of the day: "Who Dat."

We like Tom Weatherly's dedication of his book "Main Stem Stuff" which reads "To Mother Who Always Wanted A Book in the Family. Tom has some wonderful Broadway verse and we got a special kick out of this kicker to two stanzas singing the glories of Broadway:

Sing a song of heartbreak
Underneath the paint;
Glory be to Broadway—
Street of THINGS THAT AIN'T!

A British delegation of government officials visiting Moscow had the red carpet rolled out for it and a dispatch says, "When Dr. Edith Summerskill, a Laborite member of Parliament, admired the flowers, Malenkov jumped down into the garden and picked her an armful of purple and white phlox, gladioli and lavender petunias."

It must have scared the poor gal out of her skin. Possibly causing her to exclaim, "Oh, I've been trying to place you. Now I remember . . . you're Peter Pan."

We hear everything went along in that spirit until Edith pointed to a grove of trees and said, "I like those."

A neighbor of ours found his little boy smoking cigarettes out behind the barn and blew his stack. "Oh, come now, a kid will try a cigarette now and then," we said. "But this one had no filter tip and wasn't king size," he exploded.

P.D.L. asks why not ship Philadelphia to Kansas City and keep the Athletics?

The question is how many U.S. Senators will ever join in the anti-McCarthy theme song "I Wanna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair"?

Herbert Hoover at 80 isn't a day over 30, when it comes to punchlines.

"Bureaucracy rushes headlong into visions of the millenium," he said at West Branch, Iowa, "and sends the bill to the Treasury." He pointed out that federal employes have risen from 600,000 to two and a half million and that today there are in many states more government officials than all the state and local officials including constables. They are now surrounding one another in traffic jams.

The screen version of Caine Mutiny is pretty wonderful with Bogart, Ferrer, Johnson and MacMurray.

Old Age Home Fire Protection Study Planned

A suggested ordinance to aid greater fire safety in nursing convalescent, and old age homes will be presented to Marion City Council for study by Mayor Harold F Robinson

The suggested ordinance was drawn up by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and sent to city officials in various communities throughout the nation because of the number of serious fires (in the old age homes) in recent years

In a letter to Mayor Robinson E W Fowler director of codes and standards for the underwriters wrote the ordinance prepared by the board was merely a suggested ordinance devised with the hope its adoption might help prevent such fires in the future

Among other things, the ordinance calls for all nursing convalescent and old age homes to be equipped with automatic fire detection devices and if more than three stories high, automatic sprinkler systems It also suggests minimum space requirements of 75 square feet for each adult, 50 square feet for each child, and 25 square feet for each infant in such homes

Mayor Robinson said he would present the letter from Fowler and the copy of the suggested ordinance to Council for further consideration
